

FBI to Probe Violence at Union Session

'Reign of Terror'
During Convention

Atlantic City, N. J. —P— An FBI investigation is reported underway today into convention session violence between factions vying for control of the million-member United Steelworkers Union.

One faction complained to the Labor Department in Washington that "a reign of terror" at the convention made even elementary democratic processes impossible. It said it received a reply last night the matter had been referred to the Justice Department for an FBI probe.

This faction, headed by Donald C. Rarick, McKeesport, Pa., contender for the top union post held by President David J. McDonald, blamed two convention beating incidents on McDonald's "goons."

Charges Politics
McDonald, calling Rarick "an absolute confounded liar," said he was deliberately playing "two-bit politics" to provoke trouble and attract attention.

Rarick claimed his "Organization Rights" is publican vice presidential nominee seeking to restore democracy to the union and he said the convention is stacked with union payroll campaign in the Fox Cities area. Lodge's appraisal came during a questions from the audience period in an outdoor appearance at the city convention hall as a man at St. Norbert College.

Rarick was himself beaten yesterday in a fracas near the Atlantic City convention hall as a man identified as George Elliott, a Bessemer, Ala., union staff representative, got a bloodied nose.

Communists to Show True Colors
In Full View of World Opinion

BY JAMES BARTELT

Green Bay — The current session of the United Nations with its cast of big-name Communists will produce no settlements, but the United States has a chance to win an important victory in world public opinion.

This was the prediction Wednesday of Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice presidential nominee and seven years ambassador to the U.N., during six hours of the union and he said the convention is stacked with union payroll campaign in the Fox Cities area. Lodge's appraisal came during a questions from the audience period in an outdoor appearance at the city convention hall as a man at St. Norbert College.

world opinion. It will provide many opportunities for the Russians to show themselves in their true light, and I think they will.

Clear Gain

"It will be a very clear gain for human freedom. The hopes for genuine peace is in world opinion," Lodge said.

Lodge and his wife arrived at Austin Straubel field at 3:30 p.m. after flying from Clintonville. He spoke briefly to about 500 students and townspeople at St. Norbert College and made his main appearance at a rally attended by about 1,800 in the WBAY Auditorium at night.

The Lodge party flew from Straubel field this morning to start a new day of campaigning in South Bend, Ind.

Leaders Excited

The size of the night crowd and its response to Lodge, Rep. John Byrnes and Philip Kuehn, candidate for governor, excited district party leaders.

29 Feared Dead As U. S. Transport Plane Crashes

Naha, Okinawa —P— A four-engine U.S. Marine transport plane carrying 29 persons crashed into the sea today 180 miles southeast of Okinawa. A U.S. destroyer which reached the site said it had found no survivors.

The DC6 Marine aircraft was carrying 23 passengers and a crew of 6 from Atsugi, Japan, to Subic Point, Philippines, when it reported an engine failure and said it was ditching.

Man Carrying Rifle
Seized in New York

New York —P— A Hungarian alien carrying a rifle within a few feet of President Eisenhower's passing motorcade was seized by police today at the Manhattan end of the Queens midtown tunnel.

Police said the rifle, carried in a case, was not loaded, the man had no ammunition.

2 Men Accused of Jewelry Firm Holdup

Chicago —P— Two Illinois men were arrested Wednesday by FBI agents and charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in connection with the robbery of a Milwaukee jewelry firm last Wednesday of $1,800 in cash and $50,000 in jewelry.

Glenn Richards, 24, of Skokie and Michael Brasian, 27, of Melrose Park were arraigned before a U.S. Court commissioner and ordered held for a hearing next Wednesday.

Milwaukee Inspector of Detectives Rudolph Glaser said they were arrested after persons who saw several men in the vicinity of the Milwaukee jewelry firm at the time of the robbery, picked their photographs from police files.

Three men one dressed as a mailman, held up the Tanager Jewelry Co. in the Empire Building in downtown Milwaukee and fled with the money and jewelry.

Tear Gas Bomb Set Off in Dormitory

Princeton, N.J. —P— A Princeton university sophomore-freshman scuffle was marked by the explosion of a tear gas bomb in the Payne Hall dormitory last night. The FBI is continuing its search for Joseph Corbett, Jr., 31, as a fugitive from justice.

Green Bay — "All right, Red. This is it," the man said and fired his rifle.

So began a terrible several minutes inside a S Broadway tavern Wednesday night when four persons, including the gunman, were fatally shot.

Dead are:

Walter Lawrence Ferry, 45, Green Bay, the gunman and a parolee from the state prison where he previously served seven years for the second-degree murder of his wife in 1950 in Tigerton.

Joan Ann Gilson, 31, Green Bay, with whom Ferry had scuffled at the bar earlier in the night.

Patricia Ann Meitz, 21, 908 W. 10th St., Kaukauna, mother of four sons and a bystander who was killed by a bullet from a 30-30 rifle in Ferry's hands. Ferry was a suicide victim of an inadvertent discharge from his own gun.

Wants Space Vehicles Launched Only for Peace Uses, Under Supervision

United Nations, N. Y. —P— President Eisenhower today challenged the Soviet Union to join in immediate disarmament talks with the aim of scrapping all nuclear weapons while U.N. inspection makes sure that space vehicles are launched only for peaceful purposes.

Eisenhower, addressing the 15th United Nations General Assembly as the first speaker of a major power, laid down a wide-ranging program which he said could help bring "progress" toward a world community based in peace and rooted in justice.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev sat intently in his seat in the Soviet delegation as the president began his 4,000-word speech shortly after 11 a.m.

Khrushchev is to speak tomorrow, just a little over a year after he had before the assembly a plan for disarmament to which the western powers could not agree.

Macmillan to Appear
The assembly, much as Khrushchev proposed, has become a sort of summit session. There are no plans for Eisenhower and Khrushchev to meet privately but it was disclosed today that Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is to appear later before the assembly.

Indirectly assailing the Soviet Union for actions in the Congo, the president proposed that all 96 member nations in the U.N. agree to respect the freedom of new African countries and refrain from sending arms or forces there. He upheld Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, against Soviet criticism and called for expanded help to Africa under U.N. auspices. He pledged U.S. aid toward that end.

Effective Plan Needed
His words on disarmament and the policing of outer space attracted most attention because Khrushchev has come to this U.N. assembly with the avowed aim of discussing disarmament with other heads of state.

The United States, Eisenhower said, is ready to submit to the address by President Eisenhower.

Cites Expenditures
Lafer recalled the words of Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek that only economic development can consolidate peace among nations, and added:

"The world spends at least $100 billion per year on armaments, while the industrialized countries have in their last 10 years spent about $40 billion on aid, assistance, investments, and so forth for the underdeveloped areas of the world."

He said it was unrealistic to say that armaments, garrisons and armies can be done away with, but he added the arms race can be brought to a halt by applying resources saved to economic development.

"Why then, not adopt in a special conference a system whereby the powers would pool their savings effected by arms reduction and turn them into a United Nations international development fund?"

He said an accumulation of funds through decreases in expenditures for arms, linked with a percentage of resources that more highly developed countries could loan to the fund, "would instill life into the field abandoned and forgotten by the world bank."

Quinn, 23, a student at Humboldt State college, had insisted on being with his young wife in the delivery room.

Trinity hospital officials called police, but the boy—the Quinn's first child—was born with Quinn observing.

Mother and son were reported doing fine.

Quinn unlocked the chain and walked out of the hospital.

Dr. Henry C. Fortalpa, a staff physician at the hospital, was indignant.

Waupaca — Conflicting testimony on the time of the fatal shooting of Frank Heidemann, 40, route 2, New London, was presented Wednesday by two of the state witnesses in the murder trial of Garvin Lee Gillham, 34, Chicago.

David Gillham, 21, Chicago, nephew of the accused, told the court Wednesday that his uncle fired the second volley of bullets into Heidemann a short time after felling him with the first revolver load of bullets.

Gloria Hoskins, 24, New London, testified that Garvin Gillham felled Heidemann with the first round of bullets and then went into the house to look for her before returning to the fallen man and emptying another load of bullets into him.

Saw Shooting

Both of the prosecuting witnesses told the court they saw the fatal shooting. The nephew said he was standing close to Heidemann when his uncle during both bursts of gunfire.

Miss Hoskins, who also testified that she never married, said she saw the fatal shooting of Heidemann from the front porch of the Heidemann home and also travel time.

Nixon Sharpens His Attack on Kennedy

Charges Democratic Candidate Unknowingly Espouses Course Inviting War or Surrender

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
En Route With Nixon — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's attacks on his Democratic presidential rival sharpened today with the charge that Sen. John F. Kennedy unknowingly espouses a course inviting "surrender" or even war.

That summed up the final count-down on his effort to get this campaign missile off the ground in a day of speeches—and a news conference—which had newsmen puzzled about how hard he was hitting at his target.

The Republican nominee flies today to St. Joseph, Mo., for a speech at 10:30 (Eastern Standard Time) before flying on to speeches in Illinois, at Sullivan (4:15 p.m.), and Rockford (9:30 p.m.). At Fort Wayne, Ind., Wednesday the vice president said that, in dealing with a man like Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, when you make a concession without betting one, "you work toward the cause of surrender."

This was in connection with Kennedy's remark that President Eisenhower might have voiced regrets to Khrushchev over the U2 spy plane incident in an effort to save last spring's Paris summit conference from collapse.

Nixon amplified his case later at Louisville by adding: "When you're dealing with a dictator you must never make concessions without getting something in return because that is not the road to peace. It is the road to surrender, or even to war."

Nixon backed away from the full implications of these speeches at a subsequent news conference in Springfield, Mo.

Asked if he meant to infer that Kennedy "is espousing a surrender policy for the Soviet Union," Nixon replied: "Absolutely not. Mr. Kennedy didn't know what he was espousing."

He went on to say that Kennedy would oppose surrender to the Soviets "just as strongly as I would."

But, he said, "because of perhaps lack of understanding and experience he was naive in making a suggestion that I think would have led to exactly the thing that he would have been just as strongly against as I am."

Kennedy, he said, "really didn't know, in my opinion, what he was saying and the implications of what he was suggesting" and had a "lack of understanding of what it would lead to."

The news conference followed a welcome to Springfield that Nixon said, "indicates what is happening in Missouri" this election year.

Urge Removal Of Ghana and Guinea Troops

Congo Strongman Says Forces are Protecting Lumumba

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Leopoldville — Congo strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu has put forth a veiled threat to take action unless the U.N. command withdraws troops of Ghana and Guinea.

The youthful military ruler charged these African troops, who have been protecting deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba, with meddling in Congo internal affairs.

Mobutu warned that if the Ghanaian and Guinean troops are not pulled out of the Congo "it will become a problem for our general staff." He did not elaborate.

Ghana has about 2,500 troops in the U. N. task force, Guinea about 600.

Military Rule

"Ghananian President Kwame Nkrumah said on arrival in New York Wednesday night for the U. N. General Assembly that he had not heard of Mobutu's demand, Nkrumah emphasized that he still regarded Lumumba as the legitimate premier of the Congo."

Mobutu who proclaimed a form of military rule a week ago, has been frustrated by taking and Ghananian forces from taking Lumumba into custody.

U. N. officials apparently feel they would be open to Communist charges of partisanship if they allowed Lumumba to be turned over to Mobutu.

When Mobutu announced he was "neutralizing" the politicians, Lumumba ran for cover and was believed to have been given refuge by the Guinea diplomatic mission. Emerging from his hideout last weekend, Lumumba moved back into his old official residence behind a shield of Ghana troops and began issuing orders.

Army Support

But Mobutu appeared in command, supported by the bulk of the Congolese army.

Lumumba was believed to have given up his attempt to get to New York to present his case to the U. N. General Assembly. A U. S. Embassy spokesman said Lumumba aides inquired three days ago about getting visas. They were told to submit their passports to the embassy but have not done so.

While Leopoldville was quiet outside of the political maneuvering, a skirmish between U. N. troops and African tribesmen was reported in southern Kasai Province. The U. N. command said no U. N. soldiers were hurt but the tribesmen suffered casualties before fleeing.

Kennedy Farm Program Calls For 'Work and Sacrifice'

Aimed at Bringing Good Incomes, Decent Living for U. S. Farmers

Sioux Falls, S. D. — Sen. John F. Kennedy today outlined a 6-point farm program of "work and sacrifice and discipline" — a program he said is aimed at "bringing good incomes and a decent standard of living to all our farmers."

In the first major agricultural speech of his presidential campaign, the Democratic nominee pledged as the keynote of his plan the securing of full parity of income for farmers.

He defined that as income which gives average producers a return on their invested capital, labor and management equal to that which similar — or comparable — resources earned in so-farm employment.

Kennedy's long awaited program dealing with one of the major issues of the campaign was set forth in a speech prepared for the National Plowing Contest.

No Vague Promises

"It makes no vague promises that can be interpreted different ways. It makes no pledge that I cannot or that the public interest would not permit. It gives you no assurance that you can have high incomes and unlimited production, and no controls without regard to the taxpayer."

With the Democrats seeking to increase their election gains of recent years in the farm heartland of the nation, Kennedy set forth this program:

1. Full parity of income for farmers in line with Kennedy's definition of the concept. He called it a concept which strikes to the heart of the farmers' problem—one which "does not concern itself directly or solely with prices—with what the farmer receives—but with his net income. His return, the only figure which is meaningful in determining his standard of living—particularly in this year of cross-price squeeze."

In discussing this point Kennedy made no mention of the Democratic party's platform pledge to seek a return to 90 per cent of parity for basic commodities.

2. Achievement of parity of income primarily through supply management of crops—what Kennedy described as "adjustment of supply to demand at parity income prices." He said government purchases and loans would

President of Ecuador Willing To Wage War

Quito, Ecuador — President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra told his people Wednesday night "you have me here as your soldier in peace and in war."

He addressed a crowd which had assembled to back the government in its repudiation of the Rio de Janeiro Protocol setting the boundary between Peru and Ecuador in a disputed area at the headwaters of the Amazon. The Rio Protocol was guaranteed by the United States, Brazil, Argentina and Chile.

"I am a soldier of peace," said Velasco Ibarra, "but if I have to defend the country I will be the first to give an example of sacrifice."

Reports were current here today that Peru was massing troops along the frontier following Ecuador's denunciation of the Rio Protocol.

Sub Skipper Saves Life of Marine Diver

San Francisco — The skipper of the submarine Redfish was credited today with saving a Marine demolition skindiver from an agonizing death of the bends.

Cpl. D. F. Merwing, 25, Ridge-wood, N. J., arose to the surface too quickly from 60 feet after working under the USS Cook of maneuvers. Pressure at that depth forces nitrogen into the bloodstream; rising too fast causes the gas to gather in tissues. Merwing had convulsions, lost consciousness and had paralysis of one lung. The nearest decompression chamber was 200 miles away, at Hunters Point Shipyard south of here.

Li. Cmdr. C. H. Lowry Jr., and the submarine Redfish answered a radio call for help. Merwing was hustled into the sub's air-locked escape hatch and the vessel dove to 165 feet. As the sub cruised to San Francisco the pres-

Wisconsin Trial 7-Digit Telephone System Makes Debut

Seven-digit numbers, the new look in telephone numbers which eventually will be used everywhere in the United States, will make their Wisconsin debut at Cornell in November. A sample of what the new numbers will look like is "393-9300". R. C. Van Sistine, Appleton manager for the Wisconsin Telephone Co., said:

Other communities in Wisconsin where the new style in numbers will be introduced during the next 12 months include Sussex, Cornucopia, Pewaukee, Wrightstown, Merrill, Waupun, Darlington, Shullsburg, Gratiot and Wota. No time for the change in the Fox Cities has been estimated.

Van Sistine said that seven-digit numbers will be introduced on a gradual basis. Customers will be notified by the telephone company well in advance.

Gradual Change
Known as "All-Number Calling," the change is necessary, Van Sistine pointed out, to meet the coming shortage in usable telephone numbers. Telephone companies across the nation are starting to make the gradual change now so that all present numbers can be changed on an orderly basis with minimum inconvenience to the customers.

"We do not like to change customers' numbers," Van Sistine explained, "but this change is the result of progress and we'll do everything possible to keep subscribers informed of the change to the new numbering system."

In the 1880's, you might have asked for a party by name or by a number like "12." Then, as telephones were added each year, it was necessary to have three-digit numbers, later four-digit numbers, and then two-letters and four-digits.

Not Enough Numbers
Most recently, in 1948, two-letter and five-digit numbers made their Wisconsin debut. Many telephone users now have such numbers. The introduction of nationwide operator dialing of long distance calls made it necessary that everyone served by dial offices have his own individual telephone number. This included an area code and two letters and five digits.

It was felt that this style would be adequate for many years to come. "But with a high rate of growth in telephones across the United States from 35 million in 1948 to more than 70 million in 1960, the telephone companies again will be running out of numbers," the manager explained.

More Combinations
Under the system of using two letters and five digits, it is possible to have 640 combinations to identify telephone exchanges. Because it is difficult to make exchange names from some of the letter combinations like "XL" for example, there actually are only about 540 usable combinations available. "But by using all numbers instead of letters, it is possible to have 800 combinations," the manager pointed out. "Even if the rate of telephone growth experienced since the end of World War II were to continue, we still will have enough combinations to last for many years."

Under the "all number" system, the customer also would benefit by less confusion in the spelling of some exchange names. For example, he explained, "The customer would not have to wonder whether LYnnwood was to be dialed LI or LY, or how do you spell Cynd." The "all number" plan also would eliminate confusing the letters "I and O" for the numbers "one and zero."

Christmas Party Held Six Months Early to Avoid Snow

South Pass City, Wyo. —P— Six years ago, John and Minnie Woodring, owners of the historic old ghost town of South Pass City, planned a Christmas party.

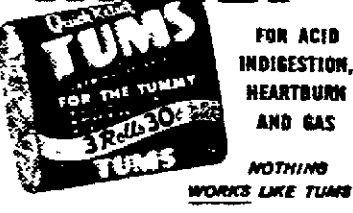

The tables were loaded down with food and about 100 guests were expected from Lander, 25 miles away.

Then the snow came. Six feet of snow fell on the little isolated mountain community—and none of the guests arrived.

The Woodrings aren't going to get caught like that again.

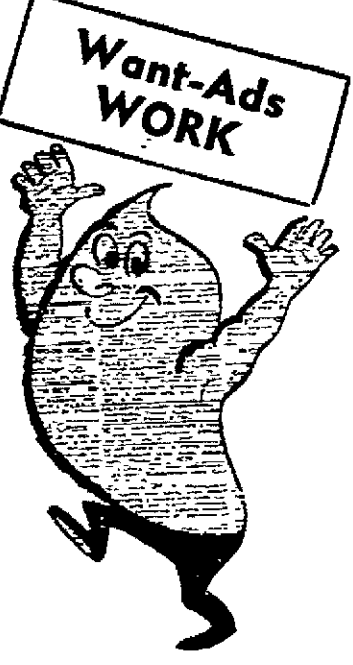

They still have their traditional Christmas party each year—but it's held on July 25.

Khrushchev Defeats Himself In 'World Peace' Efforts

Uncommitted Nations Dismayed By Circus Act in New York

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev, campaign- ing for the Soviet version of world peace, is beginning to look like his own worst enemy.

The Soviet premier strides upon the world stage at the U.N. General Assembly Friday to present his formula for ending the cold war. But his performance so far on his second visit to the United States and the U.N. reinforces the impression that there will be no end to the cold war unless Communists have their way.

Whatever Khrushchev has up his sleeve for his big speech—and it is a good guess that he will be characteristically Khrushchevian—the boss of world communism has left little doubt of Communist intentions to dominate the world.

Clues to Future

Standing on a balcony in his shirtsleeves and pawing at the air, Khrushchev blurted out the doctrines which seem to govern his every move: "Communism is the next stage in the development of man. Anyone who knows history knows this to be true."

The goings-on in connection with this 15th U.N. Assembly session are giving perplexed Americans and the world important clues to the future and to what makes dictators tick.

Khrushchev and his companion in undiplomatic shenanigans, Cuba's Fidel Castro, emerge as men of the same stamp, however different their appearance and background. The picture they present is that of men wholly convinced they speak for "the people," and any who oppose them are "enemies of the people."

'Under House Arrest'

Khrushchev's balcony speech, the sort of performance that only he can put on, gave onlookers the impression that he had not the slightest doubt that the American people secretly adored him and, coast to coast, were yearning to set eyes upon him and clasp his hand.

As the Communist boss put it, he was "under house arrest" by the State Department, which has restricted him to Manhattan.

To Khrushchev, the U.S. order probably represented chicanery of the lowest sort. It is likely that he considers the State Department is stricken with fear over the possibilities of Khrushchev's impact upon downtrodden American "masses."

Noisy Following

Khrushchev's Latin protege, Castro, seems to be similarly afflicted. Like the Soviet chief, the man with the beard habitually separates the U.S. government from the American people.

Apparently, it is almost impossible to disabuse either of them of this curious idea.

Both, despite being fenced in, have access to enormous facilities for publicity. Both have remnant followings which set up in their behalf noise enough to convince the two of their impact.

But the attempt to create a stable peace is a solemn business. The circus performances put on by the big dictator and his little Cuban counterpart have given the rest of the world a yardstick with which to judge their intentions.

African Dismay

White Car Used by Robber Dead Giveaway

MILWAUKEE —A man who used a child's capgun in a holdup of a supermarket in suburban Brookfield and escaped with $613 Wednesday was arrested 19 minutes later because he used a white sports car in his getaway.

James P. Harvey, manager of Kohl's Food Store, followed the car as it sped out of the parking lot. He notified police when the car stopped at a tavern. Brookfield police ran down the car a few minutes later as it sped along rural roads.

Arrested in the automobile was Robert J. Fehl, 36, an unemployed auto salesman. He was being held in the Waukesha County jail.

Lack of Skilled Labor Called State Crisis

More Apprentices Needed, Speakers Say at Conference

Green Bay — A crisis—the lack of skilled manpower for economic growth and greatness—faces Wisconsin, 200 delegates to the Fox River Valley-Lake Shore Apprenticeship Conference were told here.

Matt F. Schimenz, Milwaukee chairman of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission, said the state has a skilled working force of 140,000. Only 4,500 young men are serving apprenticeships of up to five years in the crafts and trades to replace these workers within 10 years, he said. The state should have 25,000 apprentices.

Wisconsin will lose one of its greatest industrial resources, the needed craftsmen who can produce top quality work, if management and labor do not push the program, he said. One skilled workman is being trained yearly for each 35 now employed. "More than one in 35 workers are retiring or dying every year," he commented.

Pilot Project

The conference here, termed "a pilot project," was the first in the state called by the Industrial Commission to revive industry and labor support for the state-supervised apprenticeship program, which had as many as 14,000 enrolled in 1947.

The day-long program at the Northland Hotel was attended by representatives of labor and management, vocational school teachers and high school guidance counselors from Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Kaukauna, Chilton, Sturgeon Bay, Manitowoc, Marinette, Green Bay and others.

George Haberman, Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin AFL-CIO, said apprentices are "the lifeline of industry from the point of view of production, progress and profits." Labor, he said, has a vested interest and can only help the employer make money "if we have the skills to service him with."

Criticizes Narrowness

Haberman said there are "too many narrow specialists and not enough all-around skilled men, too many machine hands and not enough machinists."

A. J. Matthias, Kenosha, training director for American Motors Corp., told the conference that management and labor must run an apprenticeship program jointly in a plant, working together to select and supervise likely prospects for full journeyman's ratings in any particular trade.

David Carley, Madison, director of the Governor's Commission on Resource Development, said the next 10 years will be crucial in Wisconsin's industrial growth.

2 Per Cent State

The state is a "2 per cent state," he said, with 2 per cent of the nation's population, 2 per cent as its share of personal income, 2 per cent of the nation's disposable personal income.

"We're only average among 50 states," he said. "And I'm not interested in a stable economy. That means stagnation. We must grow and aim for a magic 3 per cent. And to grow we must have adequate resources of skilled manpower."

Carley said vocational training and craftsmanship must be upgraded in importance in an industrial society and that top caliber counseling is needed in the schools to guide capable students into the trades.

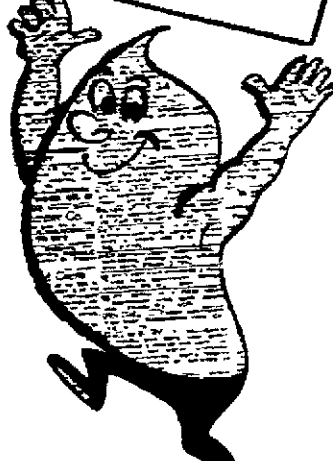

Same Parking Lot but Different Customers

Des Moines, Iowa—P—There's a sign on the street in an outlying shopping district in Des Moines that says:

"Parking for patients of Dr. Walter, Dr. Gustafson and customers of Gustafson's meats."

Dr. John P. Gustafson is a dentist and Emery Gustafson operates a meat market. They're brothers.

Influenza Vaccinations Best Protection for Aged and Ill

BY CARL N. NEUPERT, M.D. groups were recommended last month by the U.S. Public Health Service. Although history doesn't always repeat itself, this fall and winter could bring us another outbreak epidemics in the fall and winter of influenza like that experienced of 1957-58 and again early this year has shown that these outbreaks are especially dangerous for public health problem. These include all persons over the age of 65, persons with rheumatic and other heart disease, routing immunization of the and persons with chronic bronchitis, chronically ill and older age al and lung diseases, diabetes, like to wash at home alone.

and Addison's Disease as well as pregnant women. These persons should be vaccinated once a year, every year. And to get the maximum protection these vaccinations should be given between now and Nov. 1. No one now knows when we will have another influenza epidemic it could be this fall. That's why members of the vulnerable groups should arrange for their vaccinations at once.

Neighborhood Wash

Lockport, N.Y. — Sociability seems to be a by-product of the self-service laundry. Mr. and Mrs. John Stuckland, proprietors of a laundromat, say one customer comes because she does not like to wash at home alone.

Lawrence Says

Americans Aroused by Red Visitors

Suggest Moving U.N. to Prevent Further Incidents

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Many Americans may be tempted to applaud the proposal of "Pravda" the official Communist or Communist in Moscow that the United Nations be moved out of New York City. There are citizens of this country who feel that it would be a good idea to let the U.N. operate in Geneva or somewhere else so that it will be unnecessary to receive into America such personalities as Khrushchev, Kadar and Castro.

There are Americans who feel that the headquarters of the U.N. in New York affords Khrushchev and his Communist bloc facilities for broadcasting and press coverage that are not available to the officials of western governments when they visit countries behind the Iron Curtain.

The U.N. at its beginning could easily have been set up in some European capital, but there were many Americans, including this writer, who felt that the mobilization of the moral force of the world could better be achieved in the United States.

Restriction Useful

The very thing that has been made the basis of the Communist complaints — that freedom of movement outside the city has been restricted for certain visitors — serves a useful purpose. For one thing, the lack of reciprocity and one-sidedness of the Communist operations in everything is dramatized. They want the west to disarm but do not wish to disarm themselves. They want the west to be inspected thoroughly for any violations of a disarmament agreement, but refuse to guarantee any effective system of detection inside their own borders. They restrict the movements of American officials in the Soviet Union outside of Moscow and yet want freedom themselves to move about the United States.

The Soviet head of state and his stooge Fidel Castro, feel free to denounce everything American and to fling their invectives at will, but, when the American people show their displeasure and "for security" reasons, limitations are placed on the movements of the dictators from the Communist bloc, there is a loud protest from Moscow.

Humiliating Defeat

Nothing could downgrade the U.N. more than to move it away from the United States, which has been its principal supporter, financially and otherwise since the organization was founded 15 years ago. Many Americans would like to see America relieved of the burden of paying a third of the annual expense of the organization. But there is another side to it. The United Nations provides a forum of pitiless publicity before the whole world. It is worth many times the amount spent to support the U.N. to be able to put the Soviet government on the spot in the general assembly. The proceedings are widely reported throughout the world.

Things aren't going so well in the U.N. for the Soviets. They are dismayed by the overwhelming vote of the member nations endorsing Sec. Gen. Hammarskjold for his actions in the Congo, which had been under attack by the Communist bloc. Never before has the Soviet Union suffered such a humiliating defeat.

Quiet Demonstrations

Nikita Khrushchev knows by now that his fraternization with Castro and Kadar is the wrong way "to win friends and influence people." There are in America many persons whose kinsmen were murdered in Hungary or whose relatives are today enslaved behind the Iron Curtain. There are many who are exiles from their native lands—Cuba and the Soviet Union. It is remarkable how orderly the demonstrations have been.

It is true that the police have had a hard time protecting the Khrushchev gang, but it is always difficult to get enough policemen to patrol the potential areas of trouble when public anger is running high. In America the right to demonstrate is sacred.

The easiest way to get things back to normal is to remove the causes of the hatred and indignation which have swept this country. There isn't a country in the whole free world where the safety has been "guaranteed" to Elvis of the Khrushchev gang today with his father, Vernon Presley giving up his interest for $10 and "other good and valuable considerations." "No Sinner Tyrants" — Thus Vernon Presley, 46, recently re-married.

Ike Proposes Arms Talks, U.N. Inspection

any effective and truly reciprocal inspection system.

He criticized the Russians' walkout from Geneva disarmament negotiations June 27, just as the United States was submitting new proposals, and said "Tide and time again, the American people have voiced this yearning — to join with men of good will everywhere in building a better world. We always stand ready to consider any feasible proposal to this end. We ask only this — that such a program not give a military advantage to any nation and that it permit men to inspect the disarmament of other nations."

Inspection Vital

"A disarmament program which was not inspected and guaranteed would increase, not reduce, the risk of war."

Specifically, the president said danger "is posed by the growth and prospective spread of nuclear weapons stockpiles."

"To reverse this trend," he said, "I propose that the nations producing nuclear weapons immediately convene experts to design a system for terminating, under verification procedures, all production of fissionable materials for weapons purposes."

"The proposed working group of experts could also consider how to verify the complete elimination of nuclear weapons. . . . There is as yet no known means of demonstrably accomplishing this, we would hope that the experts could develop a system."

Ready To Confer

"United States officials are willing to meet immediately with representatives of other countries for a preliminary exchange of views on these proposals."

Turning to the problems posed by exploration of outer space, Eisenhower proposed that:

"1. We agree that celestial bodies are not subject to national appropriation by any claims of sovereignty."

"2. We agree that the nations of the world shall not engage in warlike activities on these bodies."

"3. We agree, subject to appropriate verification, that no nation will put into orbit or station in outer space weapons of mass destruction. All launchings of space craft should be verified in advance by the United Nations."

"4. We press forward with a program of international cooperation for constructive peaceful uses of outer space under the United Nations."

Method Up to Experts

Eisenhower did not specifically renew his 1955 proposal for "open skies" inspections across national boundaries. He said the question of methods can be left to experts.

Eisenhower announced the United States is ready to join in a world food for peace program handled through the U.N. American shipments of surplus foods abroad now are on an individual country basis.

He said the United States is prepared to supply "substantial air and sea transport facilities on a standby basis" to meet Hammar-skjold's request that U.N. members earmark contingents for possible future requests to handle sudden crises.

The president did not mention Khrushchev but he issued an unmistakable challenge in the troubled African situation.

Noting the U.N. attempt to keep peace in the Congo, Eisenhower said "that effort has been flagrantly attacked by a few nations which wish to prolong strife in the Congo for their own selfish purposes."

Try to End Tension

The president said the United States and other countries are avoiding any action that would add to the unsettled conditions in the Congo.

"I hope this assembly will call upon all its members to do likewise, and that each speaker who fellows me to this platform will solemnly pledge his country to honor this call," the U.S. chief executive said.

Eisenhower devoted the first half of his speech to Africa, pointing up the high importance of that continent's problems in the General Assembly session.

In offering his proposals on outer space, the president declared that the vital issue is:

"Will outer space be preserved for peaceful use and developed for the benefit of all mankind? Or will it become another focus for the arms race—and thus an area for dangerous and sterile competition?"

Lost Chance in 1946

Eisenhower said the world lost an opportunity in 1946 to insure that atomic energy be devoted exclusively to peaceful purposes when the Soviet Union turned down a comprehensive control plan submitted by the United States.

A similar chance for control of outer space must not be lost, Eisenhower said.

A White House spokesman said the president offered 15 separate proposals. It undoubtedly was his last appearance as American head of state before the U.N. and probably one of his last major pronouncements on American foreign policy.

The 15 points included the 4 outer space proposals, the African program, the pledge for continued strong U.N. support, the U.N. food for peace program, the announcement of willingness to put standby forces at the disposal of the U.N., an endorsement of Hammar-skjold's suggestion that he be given a qualified staff to assist him in meeting future needs to send U.N. forces to a trouble spot, a statement of U.S. disarmament proposals, and reaffirmation of the proposal that the world's nuclear powers quit producing atomic weapons materials and use their stockpiles for peaceful purposes.

Other Problems

The president explained he was not devoting attention in this speech to some other immediate problems but that these still were of major concern.

In this connection, he mentioned "accumulating evidence of threatening encroachments to the freedom of the people of West Berlin" and the shooting down of an American RB47 plane July 1, followed by "trumped-up spy charges" against its crew members.

The president sought in several different ways to emphasize the strong American support for the U.N. and its secretary-general.

"We must guard jealously against those who in alternating moods look upon the United Nations as an instrument for use or abuse," he said.

Khrushchev, listening through an earphone to the simultaneous Russian translation of the Eisenhower address, at one point whispered an aside to Andrei A. Gromyko, his foreign minister.

Sitting behind Khrushchev, in the Yugoslav delegation, was President Tito, who had chatted with the Soviet leader before the session.

Another listener was Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba.

Kerkhoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Kerkhoff, was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital, where he died at 4 a.m. today of a cerebral hemorrhage. He never regained consciousness.

Foster, son of Mrs. Clair Foster, did not appear to be seriously injured, Outagamie County Coroner Bernard Kemps said. X-rays were being taken today at the Kaukauna Hospital. Foster has bruises of the head and chest.

Sheriff Robert Hennritz and Kemps are continuing their investigation.

Funeral services will be at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Nicholas Church. Freedom, with burial in the parish cemetery. Greenwood Funeral Home, Kaukauna, is handling arrangements.

His parents, four brothers, and two grandparents survive.

Kerkhoff was born Sept. 1, 1942, in Appleton. He was a senior at Freedom High School.

Knife Throwers Might Remove Appendices, Hungarian Paper Says

Budapest, Hungary.—F— The Hungarian television service was rash enough the other night to feature a knife-throwing act.

Magyar Nemzet, the organ of the Peoples Patriotic Front, was not amused.

"These people think they are doing something fine, superior, elevating and clever," it said.

"The broadshouldered young man throwing the knives might not be unsuitable for either careers, such as mining bauxite or operating on appendicitis cases."

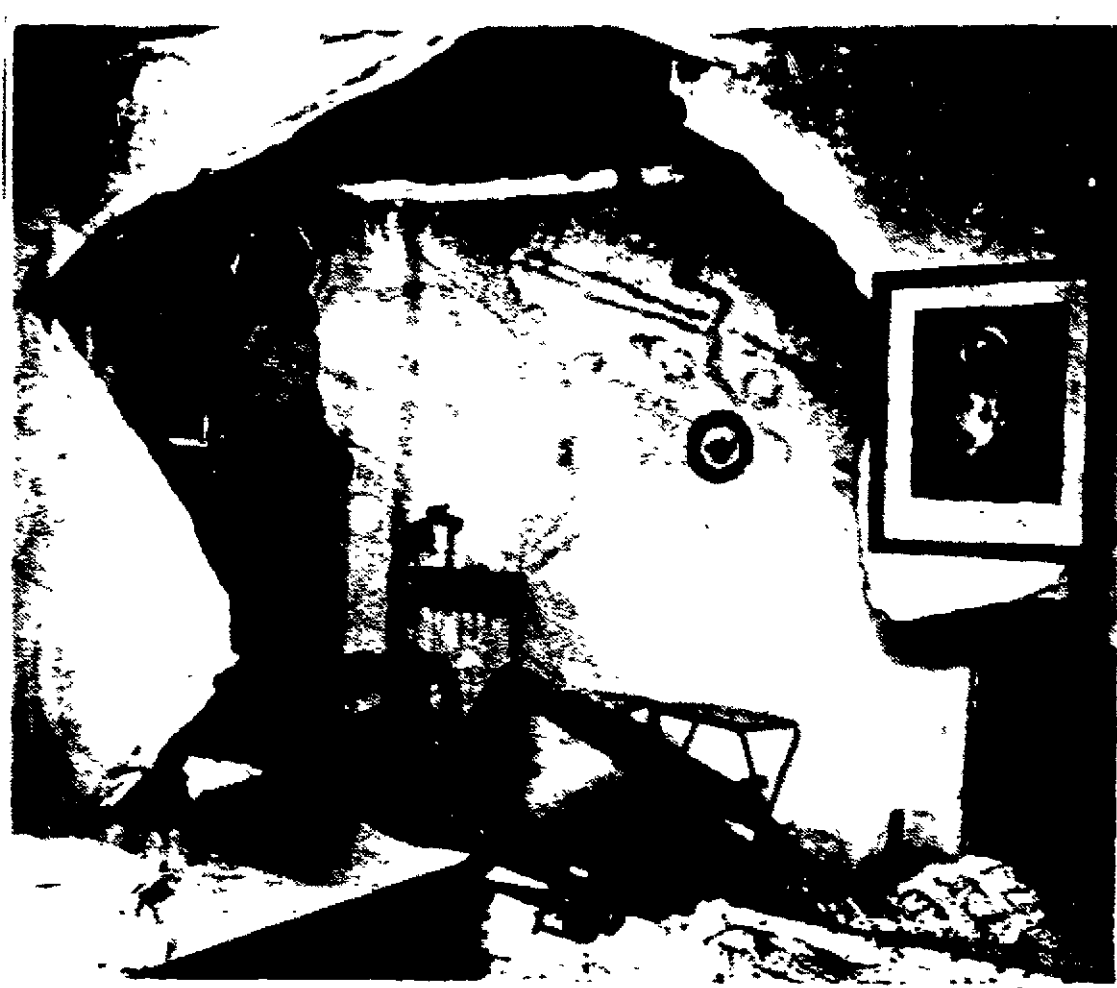

ONE THIRD OF YOUR LIFE SPENT IN BED

The lifetime of the average individual is divided up in approximately the following manner: one third of his time is spent in work, one third is spent in sleeping, one twelfth eating, and one fourth in all other activities. It is seen from these figures that sleep is an important part of our lives.

Research has given us this important fact regarding sleep. Every individual requires a different number of hours of sleep. What is sufficient for one is not sufficient for another. It is wise that every one know the amount of sleep necessary in his case and get that amount of sleep as consistently as possible.

Worry, emotional strain, excitement and nerve irritation are factors concerned with the inability to sleep. Chiropractic adjustments bring about relaxation and are therefore beneficial in many cases of insomnia.

Dispute Arises On Panels for 'Great Debate'

Kennedy Official Protests Use of Network Newsmen

New York.—F—The major network and campaign officials are in a dispute over whether news- papermen and magazine corres- pondents should be on the panels for all four of the Nixon-Kennedy TV-radio debates or only two of them.

Revelation of the dispute over the forthcoming "great debate" between presidential candidates

Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy came last night.

Kennedy's press secretary,

Pierre Salinger, said he had protested to the networks because only network newsmen would ques- tion Kennedy and Nixon on the first and last of the debates. Salin- ger said he had been authorized to speak for Nixon's news sec- retary, Herbert G. Klein, on the issue.

Alter Rules

Network officials charged that Salinger's telegram of protest was misleading. They said Salinger was attempting to alter the rules at the last minute.

The network officials gave a choice: "1. The debates will be held as presently planned, or 2. The networks will insist on the panelists should be on the panels kind of debate they originally wanted. The original idea was a TV-radio debate or only two of direct debate between the two candidates "with a moderator the only other participant."

The networks said: "It is the opinion of the net- work that the composition of the panels participating in the four programs does not fall within the jurisdiction or purview of the can- didates or their representatives."

Salinger's protest was made to the National Broadcasting Com- pany, the American Broadcasting Company, the Columbia Broad- casting System and the Mutual Broadcasting System.

latter, Ferry reentered the front up by a cigarette vending ma- door holding a rifle. He walked to the center of the long bar and, after uttering his warning to "Red", fired once. Philipson slumped to the floor behind the bar.

Ferry next turned to Mrs. Gil- son who was near the telephone booth and declared, "this is it for you, too." He fired once and she fell.

Just Entered Bar

He then fired at Mrs. Meetz who was at the bar. She was among two couples who entered the tavern shortly before Ferry's arrival with the rifle.

After first warning Ferry that she was going to hit him, Mrs. Gilson took off his glasses and struck him in the face. He fell another woman but a man next to the floor and she then kicked to her pleaded "please, don't shoot." Ferry shifted the gun to it then were pieced together.

He soon got up and started hit- ting her. Then a male patron in the tavern pulled Ferry away from her and knocked him to the floor. Philipson at that time jump- ed over the bar and grabbed Fer- ry by the shoulder. They scuf- fled and the bartender forced Ferry out of the front door.

Ferry, whose identification papers also showed a postal box number at Marion in Waupaca County, entered the tavern first around 7:45 p.m. and eventually became engaged in an argument with the Gilson woman. During the course of this he directed an insulting remark at her, whereupon she retorted, "I don't have to take your vulgar lan- guage."

Two Strikes and Their Lessons

Two very damaging strikes have come to an end in Wisconsin in recent weeks. The first and most famous is the Kohler strike which ran for nearly 6½ years before it finally was called off. The second was the J. I. Case Company strike which started out with all of the unpromising signs associated with the Kohler strike but which finally was brought to a close through the very skillful efforts of Gov. Nelson's fact-finding panel.

Since the strikes were called by different locals of the United Auto Workers' Union a certain similarity in tactics might be expected. Since the union leaders at the Case plant had the benefit of the experience of the union at Kohler, the public might have expected an improvement. But the fact is the union at Case started out with the same old tactics that brought disaster and failure at Kohler.

The result was the company refused to deal with the union until mass picketing was discontinued and people desiring to enter the plant to go to work, or for other purposes, were permitted to do so. Gov. Nelson, taking notice of the situation, prevailed upon the union to discontinue the mass picketing and permit people to enter the plant.

The result was not what the union expected at all. No strikebreakers entered the plant and as we recall, only one man entered to go back to work. Those who had been striving to enter earlier now showed no interest. Furthermore, the company, which had declined to meet with the union, now was under pressure to do so. Finally, when the negotiations between the union and the company came to an end, Gov. Nelson prevailed upon both sides to accept the services of his fact-finding panel.

One lesson from this strike must be very clear. It is that the union's belligerent and militant picketing caused more harm than good. It gave the company reason to refuse to negotiate and it brought violence from people on the outside who insisted upon entering the plant, perhaps merely because the way was blocked. As for the outcome of the strike itself, it was settled on the basis of an offer made by the company. Union officials say they are pleased because they have won significant union gains in seniority insurance, skilled trades regulation, discipline and discharge and similar items, but the company merely says that the proposal which was accepted was "one they (the union) should have brought."

The Kohler strike offered an opportunity for people in union work and in labor relations to learn if they wished to do so. Apparently Gov. Nelson and the members of his fact-finding board have learned from such strikes and fortunately they were able to apply their knowledge in the Case situation.

The Kohler strike came to an end a few weeks after the National Labor Relations Board had ruled that the company had prolonged the strike by unfair labor practices two months after the walkout began and that the union had engaged in illegal mass "belly-to-back" picketing marked by violence. The union has claimed a great victory as a result of this NLRB ruling but it should be noted that the victory is on a point which did not exist when the strike began and, in fact, is dated two months after the beginning of the strike. Thus, whatever the cause of the strike originally, it apparently has been forgotten in the long years of strife.

As a result of the NLRB ruling the company is calling its former employees back to work. Notices have been sent to 1,400 but it is not expected that anything like this number will respond. After six years, many of the former Kohler workers have found jobs elsewhere and undoubtedly will prefer to remain where they are rather than to change back to Kohler. But it should be noted that those who do return will come back under conditions unchanged by the strike but still somewhat different from those which prevailed when they walked out.

Both the Kohler and the Case Company strikes illustrate the very great folly of using force in a labor dispute either on the side of management or on the side of the union. Force and violence have no value in labor disputes. That has been proven over and over again. Almost as clear is the value of a fact-finding body such as Gov. Nelson provided. We think the day will come when both management and labor will be civilized enough to submit their disputes to a court of law just as all other citizens of this nation settle their disputes.

Side Irritants

The visit of the Communist delegates to the United Nations has brought a lot of diplomatic problems to that serious body and also to the United States since the official U.N. headquarters is in New York City. But there are other issues, less important, but relevant to the safety of the delegates and the city's inhabitants. They have caused many hours of worry and negotiation.

The matter of security, which bothered our officials during Khrushchev's tour of the country last year, is even more pressing because of feeling about Khrushchev's insincerity. President Eisenhower has made a plea for courtesy but everyone knows there is no official effort being made to woo Khrushchev's friendship. The dispossessed, the refugees, and the deprived who will hate forever are dangerous to a dictator. The restrictions on Khrushchev to the island of Manhattan probably were as much for his own safety as that of the United States.

Actually it took a special call from our ambassador to the U.N., James Wadsworth, to get the Baltika docked in New York harbor at all. The Department of Marine and Aviation requires liability insurance from shipowners in case a pier is damaged. Commissioner Vincent O'Connor said later that the insurance negotiations were underway but he did not issue the docking permit until Mr. Wadsworth's office asked that it be hurried. Altogether the Soviet government had to take out almost $3 million in liability, life, and fire insurance. A school ship, docked at the same pier, finally was evacuated of its 400 students since underwriters would issue policies covering damage only to the hull of the ship.

All in all, if Khrushchev and his ilk don't care to come back, it probably will be all right with everyone in New York.

Same Old Guns for Butter

The disagreement in the philosophy of Communism between the Russian leaders and those in Peiping may have some basis in interpretation of Marxism. But primarily the difference in conditions in the two countries causes the split.

The Soviet Union has lived under Communist rule for more than 40 years. There is nothing spectacularly new in its application despite changes in control at the Kremlin. In general, living conditions in Russia, while nowhere near the standards of the United States or Western Europe, are not primitive or full of poverty.

But the masters in China have to keep the minds of their new type of serfs off the appalling failures of the Communist system to raise living standards. This has been particularly apparent in the field of agriculture.

Outside experts estimate that China must boost agricultural production on an average of 10 per cent a year to better the situation. But there is evidence to indicate that the Red leaders badly miscalculated the effects of their agricultural revolution upon quotas. There are signs that there was deceit in the figures given on experimental farms in order to keep some bureaucratic heads. The chronic Chinese perils of drought and flood have not given way as yet to Red methods.

Observers without leftist leanings have estimated that China actually produced one-quarter to one-third less food grain than was claimed by the government last year and that figure was not particularly encouraging. The experiments with cooperatives, collectives and communes have not stabilized food production.

Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung may have reached some measure of agreement in ideological goals of peaceful coexistence. But the rumblings of the Red Chinese have not been toned down in Quemoy and Matsu, through Tibet to India or south into Viet Nam and Laos.

The Chinese must keep up the warnings about the dangers of outside intervention from the capitalist world and the necessity of pressing always outward. Otherwise, even the expendable Chinese peasant, who has been hungry for centuries, might wonder about the whereabouts of the wondrous new order and all its material and spiritual benefits.

Dropping of Soap Operas End of Era

From The Birmingham Post-Herald

The end of a lachrymose era is at hand. A major radio network — CBS — has announced that daytime soap operas between 12:30 and 2:30 p.m. are to be dropped to make way for news and special-events coverage, not to mention disc jockey programs.

Included among the old reliable tears-and-purity dramas to go off the air at the end of November are "Ma Perkins" (a sweet cliff-hanger for 27 years),

Nation's Biggest Health Problem Is Overweight

From The Bennington (Vt.) Banner

The nation's biggest health problem is overweight, in the view of Dr. E. Vincent Askey, new president of the American Medical Association. He adds that we Americans are eating more and better but exercising less. "As a result, actuarial statistics show that an alarming large number of persons are seriously overweight, and obesity and long life usually don't go together."

National Plowing Contest

People's Forum

Suggests Voters be Registered, Leaders Spark Interest of People

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It is entirely conceivable that men of good will can and should differ on the problems which confront a society. The right to differ and the privilege to express these differences separates democracy from tyranny.

Somewhere along the line, it would seem however, we have assumed that this right or privilege carries with it no corresponding responsibility or duty. Accordingly, some of us proceed to condemn governmental action (joint county airport, state highway programs, federal "spending") while "refusing to back our right's by registering (a responsibility) and voting (a duty) for qualified officials at all levels of government.

I trust that our public servants are all persons dedicated to advancing the welfare of our communities. I trust also, that they, individually and collectively believe in and support representative government of and by the will of the majority of the people.

Firm in this trust, the objective of securing greater voter registration, while at the same time not decreasing the stature of the city clerk's office, should not be insurmountable.

Door to door registration is based on evidence that all too frequently the individual is not inclined to put himself out, even though it may be to his advantage. There are fully reasonable objections to such a procedure. Yet, without it we continue to straddle ourselves with a 19th century procedure, in direct conflict with 20th century attitudes.

In broad outline, the procedure should, following council action, be something of this nature:

The city clerk shall appoint a minimum of two registration assistants per ward. He shall then train them as to proper registration procedures, and shall instruct them to register — by direct canvass — each voter in the ward. Registration thus acquired shall be the official polling list superseding all others. The city clerk shall have complete jurisdiction over each step of the program.

The details as to whether such assistants should be paid or voluntary appointments is in essence an immaterial factor. At the same time, from a practical point of view a re-canvass prior to every election may prove wasteful of time and effort. Conceivably, such action might reasonably provide for a re-canvass after a stated number of years.

This procedure, would I believe, materially strengthen the base of representative government while at the same time not unduly infringe on the office of city clerk.

Council, or other legislative action alone is not enough. If we are to retain the purpose of a democratic society, as well as its form, we individually and in organizations, must do everything possible to increase interest — on a sustained basis — in good and better government.

In this area leadership must lead. It is not enough to observe. Through the use of speakers and tours of public institutions, among many other possibilities, the organizations may help the individual to find the one "spark" which will encourage him to participate in public affairs.

Once this has been done, no amount of direct or indirect "pressure" will be needed.

In the final analysis, voting is an individual matter. But it is also true that what the individual does with it and or about it will determine whether this society will grow or decay as have great societies before us.

Feels Too Much Freedom Greater Danger Than Nikita

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I see by your editorial that New Yorker's longshoremen have put up signs to show Nikita the way to go home; but I'm afraid they have chosen an entirely ineffective remedy! Americans have for too long a time, allowed the enemy's agents to operate, without restraint, by what they call "Creative Freedom" — in writing, in the theater, in painting; indeed in all departments of art and thought!

Take for instance the movie "The Bramble Bush." Note that the ad itself is downright indecent — and the film is said to glorify adultery, drunkenness, mercy killing, suicide, and all sorts of immoral, over-colored mish mash!

And I beg parents to pick up and examine those sensational pocket-type books. I picked up "Gangster Life in the Raw," and I was horrified! The page I started to read, caused a picture in my mind, which should a young lad read, might cause him to commit sins which would cry to heaven for vengeance! And again, I soon saw it contained cursing!

Oh, why don't we rise up against these things? Why does anybody tell me there's nothing he can do about it? They tell me I'd have to get to every book store and every public library! They tell me to "Don't bother your head about them." But we are our brother's keeper! Our

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO

The Appleton Crescent did not issue a paper for the week of Sept. 25, 1860, because the newspaper moved across the street into the building formerly occupied by McCaughey and Willy.

25 YEARS AGO

Foreign military observers said that night a situation was rapidly developing in the Mediterranean where an untoward incident might furnish the tinder for touching off a powder keg spreading far beyond the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

The Agricultural Administration, declaring it lacks funds to enforce a compulsory potato control plan which was beset by criticism, may resort to a voluntary one involving benefit payments to growers.

James Monaghan, Appleton, was elected liquidating agent for the stockholders of the former Citizens' National bank at a meeting of stockholders.

Dr. M. N. Davis, Dr. Walter Roehr and H. E. Malmstrom of the physics department of Kimberly-Clark Corporation talked on "New Paper Testing Equipment" at a meeting of chemical engineers at the Institute of Paper Chemistry.

Appleton members of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States changed the name of their chapter from Outagamie county chapter to Appleton chapter.

10 YEARS AGO

American Marines battled for ancient Seoul while a Red mystery column was reported rolling down on the Korean capital from Soviet dominated Manchuria.

A top congressional source said he understood President Truman decided to veto the subversives control bill approved overwhelmingly by Congress. George A. Howden, manager of the Wisconsin Telephone Company at Janesville, was appointed division commercial engineer for the company's state division with headquarters in Appleton.

Mrs. Catherine Kohl was elected president of the Auxiliary to the Catholic War Veterans. Other new officers were Mrs. Reinhart Gresenz, first vice president, Mrs. Peter Ebben, second vice president, and Mrs. Lena Luniak, third vice president.

Mrs. William Morris was appointed president of the Silver Cross Circle of King's Daughters at the home of Mrs. Robert B. Biet, Appleton.

Under the Capitol Dome

Both Sides Play Politics With Reorganization

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The Republican minority members of the state board of governmental operations probably had the right hunch when they suspected that the ambitious blueprint for a reorganization of data processing services the other day had some election season timing.

But the bystander also is compelled to add that these minority members, Sen. W. A. Drabheim of Neenah and Assemblyman David Blanchard of Rock county, would have sounded more persuasive if they had made their argument at the time, within the hearing room, rather than a couple of hours later in the form of Republican campaign committee publicity handout.

The decision to put through the request of Commissioner of Administration Nushbaum was abrupt. Chairman Fred Risser calmly announced that he intended to get a vote that day, within hours after the rather comprehensive shakeup of state services was unveiled, even over the objections of the minority members. But that minority should have stood up to fight there, in the presence of the press and the public. It chose instead to let the matter pass, and to go over to party headquarters to compose a publicity release which won't have a fraction of the impact.

THE POLITICS

The board of government operations is a branch of the legislature, betraying all of the political colorings and weaknesses of that institution.

Political competition is sharp and relentless in the legislature. This is the height of the campaign season. Nushbaum could have brought in a 20 page selection from the Scriptures and found an argument about its endorsement in this season, it may be supposed.

On the other hand, Nushbaum's agency is the showcase political piece of the Nelson administration. The governor has repeatedly said he regards the creation of the department of administration as the noblest creation of his first term in office. Simultaneously the Republicans have been shooting at it mercilessly as an example of Democratic power-grabbing, as the substitution of another layer or bureaucracy on existing state services in the name of efficiency and reform that have conspicuously failed to be forthcoming.

So there is a considerable pressure upon Nelson and Nushbaum, it is pretty clear, to show something for their brags and for the money they are spending. Nushbaum turned up with some anxiety to propose the pulling together of "data processing services," which surely sounds dull enough to the outsider. He had a couple of star witnesses who were persuasive. There was a promise of money to be saved. Strong adjectives were spent on the allegedly primitive arrangements that exist today, which since they were inherited from Republican regimes also contain a fairly obvious political overtone.

OBJECTIONS

AS SO many instances in capital political life, there is something to be said for both sides in this dispute. Nushbaum might have given his hand away by his eagerness—and the failure to permit the state departments involved to testify, for example. He may also have realized, having worked under the capitol dome for a while, that the surest way to kill a reform is to invite comment from public officials who haven't thought of it themselves. The most permanent characteristic of governmental workers is their resistance to change.

It doesn't require much imagination, on the other hand, to guess that the Republicans were as eager to prevent some vote-getting ammunition from reaching Nelson in the middle of a dangerous campaign season as Nushbaum was to provide some justification for his own job and for his employer's repeated claims about his achievements.

The merits of this matter probably can only be judged fairly after the temperatures in the political system drop after next Nov. 8.

Specialization Leads To Many Troubles

From The Portland Oregonian

Specialization is an old story in the construction industry, with different craftsmen needed for every part of the job. Carpenters, plumbers, electricians, plasterers, painters and cement finishers observe strict rules about what they can do and what they can't. Even so, jurisdictional disputes break out now and then over such borderline questions as who's to drill the holes for the plumber's pipes and the electricians conduit.

Now there's word from Chicago, where the American College of Surgeons met, that more and more surgeons are becoming specialists, too. And they, too, are having their jurisdictional squabbles. Plastic surgeons and ophthalmologists both want to work on eyelids, oral surgeons and otolaryngologists are feuding over cleft palates, and orthopedic surgeons and neurosurgeons each claim the right to repair ruptured spinal disks. The old-fashioned general surgeon literally is caught in the middle; the thoracic surgeons are working from the top of the body down, and the proctologists are on their way up. The poor patient, if experience in the building trades is an accurate indicator, can only expect that the more specialists required on the case, the bigger the bill will be.

If this sort of thing catches on generally, life could get pretty complicated. Maybe we'll see the day when we can't hire the neighbor boy to cut the lawn, and instead a whole crew will be needed to do it — one to mow, one to edge, one to clip and one to sweep.

Inside Labor

Unions May Split on Integration Question

BY VICTOR RIESEL

Birmingham—Unnoticed in the high tension world outside some southern circles, the government quietly has set policy on Negro rights and privileges in unions. This is precedent. This is a decision which some day may trigger a civil war between the North and the South inside labor.

Riesel

A terse ruling this summer said simply that a national labor headquarters had the right to suspend and take over a union charter if the local officials did not permit Negroes the same political activities and facilities as their white fellow members.

Secretary of Labor Jim Mitchell ruled that the United Auto Workers headquarters in Detroit could take over UAW Memphis, Tenn., Local 988 and hold it under trusteeship because it had separate washrooms and separate drinking fountains in its new union building for some 500 Negro members.

First Under New Act
This is the first case involving the race question to come under the new Labor Management Reporting and Disclosure Act (otherwise known as Landrum-Griffin). "It should be made clear," said a Labor Department spokesman, "that the law does not permit us to desegregate unions. We only uphold the right of the union international to enforce a non-discrimination clause in its constitution when a local violated it."

Action in this case should be traced to the fall of 1958 when Local 988 put up a new union hall owned by the Building Corporation. Shortly after it was opened, the Negro members objected officially to signs saying "Colored Men" and "Colored Women" and "White Men" and "White Women" over the rest rooms and drinking fountains.

Object On Principle
The officers gave the Negroes their choice of any two of the four identical rest rooms. The Negroes still objected on principle and asked for fully integrated facilities. Then the UAW, led by Walter Reuther, on Jan. 21 ordered the local to integrate the rest rooms. The white members refused. Reuther lifted the charter, took over the building, changed the locks, removed some of the local officials, and put the assets in the national treasury representative for a Keno-office name. Into court went the case and firm.

back to the local went the building. But Reuther held the trusteeship and ruled that meetings could not be held in the hall. The local was placed under a three-man administrative board headed by UAW Vice President Pat Greathouse.

Question Trusteeship
The local appealed to Jim Mitchell, arguing that the trusteeship was illegal under the Landrum-Griffin Act. They asserted that it had not been established for the purpose authorized under Section 302 of the Act.

The section says that a trusteeship is for the purpose of "correcting corruption or financial malpractice, assuring the performance of collective bargaining agreements or other duties of a bargaining representative, restoring democratic procedures or otherwise carrying out the legitimate objects of such labor organization."

The local leaders said that this did not cover integration. The national office under Reuther, said that Section 302 covered far more than corruption.

In ruling for the UAW national office, Jim Mitchell directed his Labor Department to state:

Civil War Brewing
"An investigation by the Bureau of Labor-Management Reports showed that the international had followed its procedural requirements in establishing the trusteeship and that the trusteeship was established for the purpose of carrying out the legitimate objectives of the international."

There is more here than the issue of facilities in the union hall. The Negro membership had been protesting for over two years that it had been excluded from all union committees. Under the Department of Labor ruling and the demands of the UAW trustees, the committees must now be integrated as well.

There appears no doubt, therefore, that civil war between union "brother" and union "brother" is brewing.

Potato Chips Rank High in popularity . . . so why not serve them for breakfast? Here they form a palatable nest for Poached Eggs Citronne. The eggs are cooked in individual poachers this way: Lightly butter each poacher, then rub lemon rind along rims to blend with butter. Place eggs in poacher cups and cook in hot water until done . . . usually until the white has just coagulated. Place one or two poached eggs in each potato chip nest arranged on serving plates.

Simple Fare. Hearty and delicious, is this Breakfast Scramble. Each serving takes two eggs, well beaten; three tablespoons of milk and about 10 bacon - flavored crackers, crumbled. Combine all ingredients and let stand for five minutes. Pour into a small skillet or ramekin with a generous amount of butter. Bake in a 350-degree oven until just firm in the center, about 10 minutes.

Fruit Plus Cereal in the form of a tempting, quick coffee cake take the spotlight in this morning menu. One bite of this filling hot bread with its lattice top of apricot preserves will help make confirmed breakfasters out of the most reluctant of morning eaters.

'Good Morning' Starts at Breakfast Time, Bright Meal Makes Family Rise and Shine

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

A cheerful "Good Morning" is one of the loveliest sounds in the world . . . as every wife and mother knows . . . and it will be forthcoming if breakfast at your house is something worth getting up for. Often neglected as the orphan among meals, breakfast should supply about one-third of the family's daily nutrient requirements. It's the energy starter for the day . . . it promotes efficiency, well-being and happier dispositions. If breakfast has been skimmed or skipped altogether at your house, start a change . . . campaign for better eating by serving foods usually saved for other meals . . . make them different . . . set an attractive table . . . and set a good example. Here are a few ideas on the nourishing side.

Preparation of a "Last-Until-Noon" breakfast need not be a race against the kitchen clock. The baking of this dish is timed to match the last perk of the coffee pot. All of the ingredients are convenience foods . . . toast, canned corned beef and eggs, which need only to be broken onto the hash.

A Tradition in Colonial America . . . a custom worthy of revival . . . was the serving of warm, freshly-baked cake for breakfast. Here a rich, moist apple-sauce raisin cake, quickly prepared from a new cake mix, is the perfect taste-mate to a cup of steaming coffee. The cake may be served with a simple topping of confectioners' sugar or with a delicately flavored fruit sauce.

Poached Eggs Rosemary

Prepared in the same way as Poached Eggs Citronne, shown in the picture, this egg dish has one little difference. The butter for each poacher is sprinkled with rosemary for a different but delightful flavor. When eggs are firm, lift out and serve with potato chips. This combination makes a fine breakfast when served with fruit or fruit juice and a beverage.

Apricot Coffee Cake

1 cup whole bran cereal
1/2 cup milk
1 egg
1/4 cup soft shortening
1 cup sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup apricot preserves
Combine bran cereal and milk. Let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add eggs and shortening; beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add to bran mixture, stirring only until combined, no longer. Spread in greased square pan. With floured spoon make grooves in the dough diagonally across the pan about 1 1/2 inches apart, forming a lattice effect. Fill grooves with apricot preserves. Bake in 350-degree oven about 20 minutes. Cut in squares and serve immediately.

Fried Red Tomatoes with scrambled eggs and bacon or fried green tomatoes and grits are old southern favorites for the first meal of the day. To make the former, cut three medium-sized tomatoes into four slices each; dip slices into one-half cup fine dry bread crumbs mixed with one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon black pepper. Brown in bacon drippings. Serve with scrambled eggs and bacon.

Baked Hash 'n' Eggs
6 slices enriched bread toast
2 cups corned beef hash
6 eggs
Dash salt
Place toast on baking sheet. Spread each slice with one-third cup corned beef hash, making an indentation in center of each for eggs. Break one egg into each indentation and sprinkle with salt. Bake in 350-degree oven for 25 minutes. Serve immediately.

Cider Sauce
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups cider
2 tablespoons sugar
dash cinnamon
Melt butter; stir in flour. Gradually stir in cider and cook, stirring until sauce is slightly thick.

Raisin Sauce
1/2 cup seedless raisins
1 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup sugar
Dash salt
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
In saucepan combine raisins, water, sugar, salt and butter. Turn to Page 2, Col. 4

R. J. Mulroy Weds Judith A. Whittaker

St. Mary Catholic Church in Kaukauna was the setting at 10 a.m. today for the marriage of Miss Judith Ann Whittaker and Richard J. Mulroy.

The Rev. Joseph Bauschka officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass uniting the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Whittaker, 929 Metoxen Ave., Kaukauna, and Edward Mulroy, route 2, Hortonville.

Mrs. John Phelan, Kimberly, was her sister's matron of honor and Miss Mary Jo Whittaker, another sister, was bridesmaid with Miss Ellen Mulroy, Hortonville, sister of the bridegroom, and Joan DeBruin, Kaukauna, Susan Whittaker, sister of the bride, was junior aide.

Best man was Daniel Beck, Oshkosh, and groomsmen were David Mulroy, Hortonville, brother of the bridegroom, and James Whittaker, brother of the bride, shared ushering duties. May-Nor Restaurant was setting for the wedding dinner. A supper, reception and dance will be held at Van Abel's Restaurant in Hollandtown. After a honeymoon in northern Wisconsin, the newlyweds will reside at 226 1/2 E. Ninth St., Kaukauna.

The former Miss Whittaker is a graduate of Kaukauna High School and is employed as a receptionist in a doctor's office in Kaukauna. Her husband graduated from Hortonville Union High School and attended Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh. He is employed at Kimberly-Clark Corp.

Pair Weds In Double Ring Rite

Holy Name Catholic Church, Kimberly, was the setting at 9 a.m. Sept. 10 for the marriage of Miss Mary Pat Philipsen, daughter of Mrs. William Philipsen, 403 E. First St., Kimberly, and the late Mr. Philipsen, and Roland F. Revoir. He is the son of Mrs. Mary Revoir, 222 W. Eighth St., Kaukauna. The Rev. Thomas Mortell officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, William Philipsen, Kansas City, Mo. Miss Judy Kemps, Kimberly, and Roger Vanevenhoven, Kaukauna, were the couple's honor attendants. Mark Emmers, Appleton, cousin of the bridegroom, and Richard Philipsen, Kimberly, brother of the bride, ushered. A breakfast was served at the bride's home and a dinner and reception were held at the Conterway Hotel. The newlyweds honeymooned in northern Wisconsin and are now residing at 222 1/2 W. Eighth St., Kaukauna. Mrs. Revoir attended Kimberly Pharmacy. Her husband graduated from Kaukauna High School and is employed at Cigarette Service, Inc., Appleton.

Don't Depend on Palmistry, Ann Tells Doubtful Girl

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A "Bitter 16" who wrote in behalf of friend of mine who is very good at palmistry and reading tea leaves says dreams have a special meaning. She offered to interpret my dreams for a fee. She can't do it for nothing because she belongs to an association and it is against the rules.

My common sense tells me that it's all a lot of humbug. What is your opinion? — Beautiful Dreamer.

Dear Beautiful: Palmistry and tea leaf reading are humbug. Dreams, however, can give us a clue to our real feelings. But interpretation of dreams requires professional training and unless your friend is a psychiatrist, she is not qualified.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was deeply touched by the letter from of all wallflowers. All young boys are not selfish and thoughtless, Ann. In June I had an experience that renewed my faith in the younger generation.

I was a parent on duty at an all-night graduation party. My job was running the photo concession, taking "instant pictures" of the kids on their last dates as high school students. Our big problem was the repeaters — those who wanted to come back again and again.

Along toward morning I noticed one young fellow kept returning for a picture, but he always had a different girl. He was a big wheel, honor student, athlete and perennial office holder. The fifth time he showed up I gave him the usual spiel. "I think you've had your picture taken with nearly every girl here. This is where we call a halt."

Afterward he slipped around to see me alone. "If you don't mind," he said, "I'd like to bring a few more girls around for a picture. Some girls here don't have dates and I'd like to see that they get a souvenir picture, at least."

This young man had been paying for the pictures out of his own pocket. After that, his pictures were on me. — Just a Dad.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a married man whose wife went to work in a plant three years ago. She is a good person but the type that everyone takes into his confidence and tells his troubles to.

The other day she was telling me about a man who has a coffee break with her a few times a week. This man is unhappy in his marriage and said to my wife, "If I could meet a woman like you, I'd leave my old battle-axe tomorrow."

It make me mad. Do you think this is any way for a married man to talk to my wife? Should I suggest that she quit her job over there? I don't need this kind of trouble. — Husband In Jeopardy.

Dear Husband: I can't see that you have any trouble but you could sure whip up some in a hurry if you worked at it. If your wife had any romantic notions about this man she surely wouldn't be wishing you up. The fact that she speaks openly is a healthy indication. Asking her to quit her job on the evidence presented in your letter would make you look like a jealous sorehead, and it may give her ideas she never had before.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experience of thousands of teenagers if you write for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pythian Sisters Honor Chiefs

Zenith Temple No. 31, Pythian Sisters, began its fall season Monday with a potluck supper honoring past chiefs. Officers' chairs at the meeting were occupied by past chiefs. Each was presented with a gift plant.

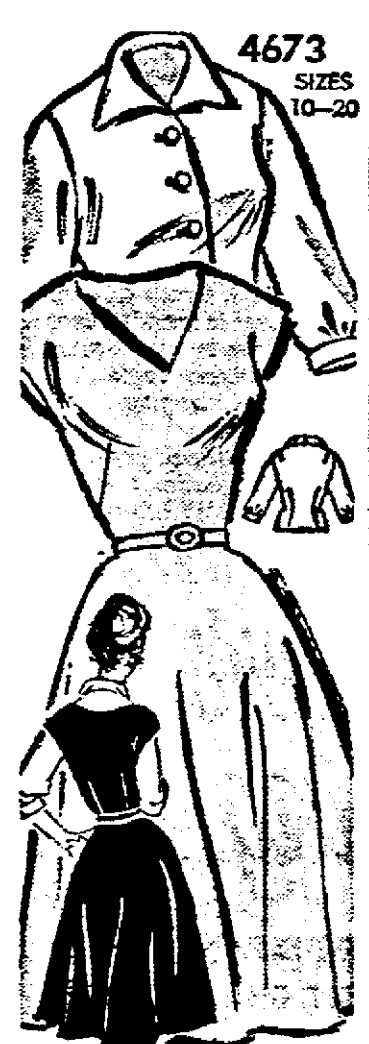

A report of the Grand Temple sessions held in Milwaukee in August was given by Mrs. Harold Ruth, grand representative, who attended the meetings with Mrs. T. G. Fargo, first alternate. Plans for the Oct. 18 rummage sale were announced. The next meeting will be Oct. 3 and will be friendship night. Members of surrounding temples will be invited.

In charge of the social hour after the meeting were Mmes. Waldemar Klein, Henry Staedt and Percy Fullinwider.

Baby Furniture Matches Home

Babies are young Americans. Some are even going Early American with the new cribs that now decorate the nursery. Baby's furniture seems to be trending toward adult taste — traditional, modern, or what have you — but not a "room apart." Regardless of this decorating idea, the safety and comfort of the child is never forgotten. Side rails are being made higher to prevent the lively baby from bouncing out; the slats are close enough together so the mattresses are made firm, yet baby won't get his head caught; mattresses are made firm, yet buoyant for good sleep and proper bone formation.

How to Avoid Mistakes in Laying Floor Tile

The right start is the secret of a well-laid floor tile. The chalkline is important. It must be used to mark a center division between each pair of opposite walls. The lines cross in the center of the room is the vital point. The first four tiles must be laid there, each with a corner touching the mark. Then the tiling is done by working outward toward the walls — for the best effect in looks and in fit to the floor. Dealers take care of the adhesive which is used with special knife needed, a trowel, an inexpensive brush or roller.

water, sugar and salt. Bring to a boil and simmer for 15 minutes. In another saucepan melt butter, stir in flour. Gradually stir in hot raisin mixture and cook, stirring until slightly thickened. Remove from heat and stir in lemon rind. Cereal Variations
Some families are cooked cereal folks when it comes to breakfast. To make the cereal more inviting, here are some interesting variations:

Wardrobe of Watches
With the exception of your engagement and wedding rings, your wrist watch is likely to be the most-worn single item of jewelry in your wardrobe, so the type of clothing most often worn should be selected according to the type of clothing most often worn. An increasing number of fashionably dressed women have two or more jeweled watches including a tailored type for daytime and sports wear and a dressy one for evening.

Young Fryare Copycats When It Comes to Manners, Moods

Good eating habits in a family are made, not built-in. If parents eaten, ignore it and try it again come to the table tired or nervous, children quickly catch the same a few days later. Don't make a mood. Catch-as-catch-can attitudes, the eat-and-run meal are learned point of rejection and chances from adults.

After good, nourishing food is prepared and attractively served, the joyed.

Small children usually respond favorably to bite-size bits of foods. Finger foods are excellent when practical. Encourage a selection between two or more vegetables with the child making his own choice.

Diet fads may appear on the scene. If adults enjoy a variety of foods, children assume the change the family meal pattern same reaction. The parents' likes if the homemaker is a conscientious planner. Special food yearnings may be served as an "occasional" to please the child, but not to discuss pleasant things of nutritionists is to offer new foods as a regular on the daily mental interest to all members of when the family is hungry and us that follow the rule of variety in good spirits. If the food is not and a well-balanced diet.

Refusal of Trick Often Best Defense

West opens the nine of spades, and dummy wins with the king. Declarer next leads a club from dummy and puts up the king from his hand.

If West thinks his partner has the queen of clubs, he should win this trick with the ace of clubs. But why would South be leading so dangerous a suit so early in the hand?

It's just unthinkable, so West should refuse the club trick without giving the matter the slightest thought. Refusing the trick is only half the battle: the absence of thought is just as important.

club from the dummy in the hope that East has the ace?

South will have no problem if West tips him off. For example, if West takes the first club trick, South is compelled to try the diamond finesse.

Likewise, if West goes into a long stew before refusing the club trick, South should know what is going on. And if South tries the diamond finesse it is sure to make the slam for him.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S-9 8 7 6, H-7 2, D-10 6 4, C-A J 10 5. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one no-trump or pass. This is a borderline decision. Normally, you need six points for a response, but the A-J-10 of a suit is worth as much as many a 6-point hand. Bid with a good partner, pass with a partner who is unskillful or easily rattled.

Sacred Heart Mothers Meet

Sacred Heart Christian Mothers held their first fall meeting Tuesday with Mrs. Al Volpintesta, president, in charge. Program chairman, Mrs. Robert Beltrone, introduced the new principal of Sacred Heart School, Sister M. Dolores, who spoke on Christian education. The altar for the month was made and explained by Mrs. Kenneth Whitman. It's theme was Queen of Martyrs.

The group decided to participate in the Valley Fair Good Neighbor Fair with a talent sale. Mrs. Raymond Brasch and her circle are in charge.

A rummage sale will be held Oct. 21 and 22 under direction of Mrs. John Vanden Heuvel and her circle.

The Oct. 16 communion will be a mother and daughter affair. Breakfast will be served after mass.

An invitation to attend the meeting of the Green Bay Diocesan Council of Catholic Women Oct. 20 at St. Joseph Auditorium was read. Two voting delegates will be sent.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Ronald Jilek and her circle.

Talks on Africa

Chilton — Members of the Ebenezer Evangelical and Reformed Church Women's Guild will hear first hand information on the African situation when a Lakeland College student from Africa and Dr. Walter Trost, a Lakeland faculty member just returned from Ghana, speak. The talks will get underway at 8 p.m. today in Fellowship hall.

Teaching Youngsters to Acquire Too Much, Too Soon, Not Wise

BY ANGELO PATRI

Old, while another cannot accept when he is better acquainted with the ways of the adult world, he will follow his family's example in this as in other ways.

Don't Ask Name

One thing all parents and adults ought to know and remember from their own childhood days is: Do not ask a little child his name. He simply cannot say his name out loud to strangers. Even older boys and girls find it hard to say their names when asked by a stranger. That is why the police and the school people ask that the children's names and addresses with telephone number be placed in their coat pockets or on the collar.

Of course they know their names. Of course they know they should say "please" and "thank you" and "how do you do," but they can't get the words out when they feel the pressure of expectation adults. So be patient and don't press for results too soon. Keep a good example before them daily and keep hopelessly teaching. Time and experience do the rest.

Angelo Patri offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. If you would like to have his leaflet P-8, "Good Books for Children," send 10 cents in coin to him, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Manners is another field where the experts say must be mistakes are likely to cause trouble between young children and mothers have to face is one child their parents. It is too much to who is, in one way or another, expect of a little child to have different from any other born into the manners of polite society. It this world. Teaching and training is difficult for a young child to must be adapted to this little odd-shape hands and say, "How do ity or it will end in distress for you?" After saying it for him without response, it is the better.

One child may be happily part of wisdom to forget about it toilet trained before he is a year and go on from there. Later on,

Jo Anne Ostertag Tell Troth of Miss Ostertag, William Fellner

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Oster- tag, 432 E. South River St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jo Anne Frances, to William G. Fellner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fellner, 1605 Henry St., Neenah. The bride-elect is a graduate of Appleton High School and is attending Wisconsin School of Cosmetology in Green Bay. Her fiance attended Neenah High School and served in the United States Marines. He is employed at Banta Publishing Co. No wedding date has been set.

Today's Etiquette

FINGER LICKING TABOO:

I am engaged to a very wonderful girl and certainly do not go around trying to find fault with her. But here is my problem. I am ashamed to take her out for dinner and never enjoy eating with her because of her shocking table manners. She licks her fingers so thoroughly and exhaustively several times through the meal that I am sickened and ashamed. Shall I tell her how badly I feel or shall I "be to her virtues ever kind and to her faults a little blind?"

Louise Davis Answers:

Newly born babies lick their fingers. Untrained children lick their fingers. But there is no excuse for a grown-up doing so at any time. Try seating your fiancee facing a mirror during a meal. Or, if you can bear it, pretend to lick your own fingers. After you are married, you might kindly and understandingly make an effort to cure her of this unfortunate habit of which she is no doubt totally unaware.

FOLDING NAPKINS:

Aren't table napkins supposed to be folded at the end of dinner?

Couple Marks 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd M. Woodworth, 1525 S. Carpenter street, were feted at a surprise party Wednesday in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Leland Buck, route 2, Appleton, a daughter, was hostess and was assisted by the Woodworth's three other daughters, Mrs. Merlin Bellis, Annaheim, Calif., Miss Joan Woodworth, Appleton, and Mrs. Willard Vanderlois, Menasha.

I always fold mine, but noticed at a small dinner party recently that none of the guests did. I neither did the host and hostess.

Louise Davis Answers:

Table napkins are folded only if they are to be used again before laundering. Therefore, a guest just lays the unfolded napkin on the table before adjourning. The host and hostess at a party don't fold theirs either.

Chilton Scene of Ceremony

Chilton — Miss Margaret Mallmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Mallmann, route 4, Chilton, was married at 10 a.m. Aug. 31 at St. Mary Church, to Allen Tikalsky. He is the son of John Tikalsky, route 2, Brillion. The Rev. Henry Schmitt officiated at the ceremony.

Miss Karen LeFeber, Fond du Lac, attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Julie, Mrs. Roman Tikalsky, Brillion, and Mrs. Raymond Mallmann, Platteville. Miss Suzanne Fritsch, Keil, and Miss Carol Dorn, Brillion, were flower girls.

Best man was James Wenzel, Potter. Serving as groomsmen were Roman Tikalsky Sr., Brillion, and the bride's brothers, Raymond, Platteville, and Edward, Chilton. Guests were seated by Roman Tikalsky Jr., Brillion, and Anthony Mallmann, Kiel.

Dinner, supper, and a reception were held at the home of the bride. A dance took place at Kleist Hall, Potter.

The newlyweds will reside at 926 S. 25th St., Manitowoc.

The new Mrs. Tikalsky attended Chilton High School. Her husband is a graduate of Brillion High School. He is employed at Lapcore Plastics, Manitowoc.

For Fading Tans

A lovely writes: My tan has begun to fade, and my skin suddenly looks like old parchment—yellow and dry. How can I get it back to normal real quick?

For the many damsels with the problem, this answer:

Twice weekly, apply a stimulation cream. Applications rouse the circulation. And as everyone knows, increased circulation is one of nature's beautifiers. After just a few stimulation treatments, a drab tan is replaced with facial glow.

To counteract dryness, film on a moisture lotion under your powder base. At bedtime slather on a lubricant, let it remain for ten minutes, and then tissue off the excess.

Plan, too, on using your lubricant immediately after applications of stimulation cream. For the skin is especially receptive to oils at that time.

Check the color of your powder base. At this point, you want a shade that flatters your skin when it is not tanned. You best can test a shade's performance by applying a bit to the inside of your wrists.

To further aid the cause, use a powder well-laced with pink or mauve tones. It will act to 'enliven' your skin coloring—now and all winter long.

To solve that riddle of extra inches around your middle, send today for my leaflet, "Midriff Slimmers." It contains quick, easy reducing exercises for slimming diaphragm, waist and abdomen. Write me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and five cents in coin to cover handling.

Khrushchev's Boorish Manners Product of the Revolution

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York — Nikita Khrushchev is within his rights to call together his private selection of heads of state with the object of ganging up on the United States. But his manners are foul. He had his opportunity for a summit conference on disarmament at Paris; this was destroyed with a nastiness rarely experienced in human history.

farmer Garst and figured that Khrushchev has to be loud and they represented the American people. He could not realize how alien they are to the American feeling toward them.

He comes not only to attend the United Nations general assembly, but also to hold a summit meeting on disarmament for propagandistic purposes, to insult our President more and more, to humiliate our country by invading its sovereignty; to conduct from New York a propaganda campaign that would be meaningless from Moscow and to make a nuisance of himself. It is just another example of very bad manners.

Boorish Manners

It used to be customary to ridicule diplomacy as the art of lying. But the fact is that all the ritual and ceremony of diplomacy smoothed the way for discussion and negotiation. Diplomats avoided personal involvement so that they could meet together on another occasion.

After Nikita Khrushchev's display of boorish manners, it is useless for him to try to meet with President Eisenhower or with any other decent American. There must always be the feeling that he will explode into vulgarity; that his word is worthless.

Nation of Boobs?

Khrushchev's assumptions are based upon his former experience when American bankers and businessmen wine and dined him; when the only opposition he encountered was from some labor union leaders and refugee groups; when the press, television and radio were profligately placed at his disposal; when the President of the United States took him to Camp David for a confidential talk. He watched newspapermen and cameramen fall all over themselves to be near of tickets, stage, the queen's throne and crowning.

To Khrushchev, such conduct represented a nation of boobs, a nation whose leading men do not understand what is going on in the world; a people who lack Kavannah and John Verhagen pride and dignity and will sell their souls for a contract. He looked at capitalist Cyrus Eaton and

Milk Consumption in Schools Declines as Price Triples

Caused by Board's Rejection of $10,000 a Year in Federal Aid

BY BONNIE BARSTOW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fewer Appleton public school children will have a mid-morning milk break this year, apparently because the board of education has taken a stand on principle against accepting a federal subsidy which amounted to more than $50,000 in the last five years.

In some cases parents have revolted against the increase in price—brought about by refusal to accept the subsidy—from 9 cents to 24 cents per week for five half-pints. Because the Junior Chamber of Commerce donation for milk for needy children will be used up sooner, needy children may go without milk after November unless another "angel" comes along.

The decision to discontinue taking milk aid was made on July 25 this year, although the board's sentiments on the matter were known more than a year ago, when aid for school lunch programs was turned down. Aid for science, mathematics, foreign language, guidance and testing programs, offered under the National Defense Education Act also has been rejected by the Appleton board.

Federal Control

Reasons given by the board include the belief that education is a local responsibility which should not be "bartered away" to federal control that naturally follows federal aid; the tax money comes from local taxpayers and federal bureaucracy is an unnecessary expense; and Appleton people can afford milk, lunches and school equipment for their children.

In 1955, before federal milk aid first was accepted, a survey of 2,700 parents indicated that about two-thirds favored participation in the subsidy program.

The board has made no surveys since then. The consensus among members is that the question is one more of principle than of popularity.

Gordon W. Gunderson, who supervises the milk and lunch programs for the state, called it to the Appleton board's attention last year that it might be inconsistent to refuse lunch aid but accept milk aid. The board agreed, but said as long as the contract for 1959-60 had been signed, it would not drop the milk program until this year.

Decrease Orders

At Washington School, the number of milk drinkers has dropped from 141 to 71; Lincoln, 278 to 165; Jackson, 100 to 64; Franklin, 260 to 118; and Foster, 114 to 98.

Last year, 48 per cent of the eligible children at Edison School bought milk. This year, 32 per cent do. Participation in the program at Huntley School has dropped from 59 per cent to 41 per cent, and Morgan School milk consumption is 5-9 of what it was last year.

Milk orders may decrease still more when parents realize that their 24 cents per child buys milk for only a week, not a month as they may have thought, said Mrs. Catherine Symons, Foster School principal.

Need Money

The Junior Chamber of Commerce last year spent $180 for milk for 70 children whose families could not afford to pay for it. The Jaycees say they cannot appropriate any more money this year, and Miss Lucille Lang, school nurse, says $180 will last only 54 school days, or until the end of November, without the federal aid.

Although no contacts have been made, the schools hope some other community group will give money to pay for poor children's milk for the rest of the year. Miss Lang said. They are trying to limit requests for free milk to the most needy children, she said.

For the last five school years the Appleton schools received 3 the NDEA's principles, but superintendents in the two cities agree the act has done good.

The Menasha Board of Education, like Appleton, has refused to accept NDEA funds.

The opponents of federal aid hope that their actions will slow or reverse the trend toward more federal participation in education. Until they do, taxpayers in Appleton and all other American communities will continue to help support schools from Florida to Alaska.

Amherst High School FFA Lists Officers; Plans Year's Projects

Amherst — Officers of the Amherst High School FFA chapter are Fred Zielinski, president; Jerry Trzebiatowski, vice president; Charles Trzebiatowski, treasurer; Rick Novak, secretary; Gary Morgan, reporter; and Jonathon Pask, sentinel.

The chapter will sell candy during noon hours and at basketball games to earn money, with Greg work such as sidewalks, curb and gutter, road surfacing and other charge of sales.

Zielinski gave a report on the FFA convention at Green Lake during the summer. Wayne Carling to Karl E. Marzahl, city reported on the junior dairy clerk meeting at Plymouth.

Each year some residents Bob Lea is chairman choose to retire all special assessments, thus avoiding interest payments of the Wisconsin Junior Dairy Association.

Police Chief Warns About End Of Saving Time

Little Chute — With daylight saving hours scheduled to end this weekend, Sylvester Vandenberg, chief of police, issued a warning to parents of children riding bicycles and to tavernkeepers.

All bicycles should be equipped with lights, warned Vandenberg, as children have become accustomed to riding bikes after supper during the summer months and will be tempted to continue this practice in good fall weather, despite the earlier darkness.

Proper lighting on bikes is one of the best preventative of bike-auto accidents, indicated the chief. He reminded tavernkeepers of the 2 a.m. closing law in effect only during daylight saving months and advised them to resume the 1 a.m. closing on Sunday.

Special Assessment Interest Payments Can Be Avoided

Kaukauna — Taxpayers having special assessments charged against them for improvement projects can avoid interest payments by paying special assessments in full by Nov. 1, according to the summer Wayne Carling to Karl E. Marzahl, city reported on the junior dairy clerk meeting at Plymouth.

Each year some residents Bob Lea is chairman choose to retire all special assessments, thus avoiding interest payments of the Wisconsin Junior Dairy Association.

Announcement!

It is with a good deal of pleasure and personal satisfaction to announce that I have opened a men's clothing store at Valley Fair in the location formerly occupied by Jungs Mens-Womens wear store.

With a background of 15 years in the men's retail clothing business in this area I feel that I am completely qualified to serve you well and offer competent advice and help in the selection and fitting of your apparel.

Our stocks are all brand new and fresh and while our selections in all lines are still not complete, we are open for business and cordially invite you to stop in and get acquainted and inspect our new store.

Strange 'Candidates' Stage 'Great Debate'

Of Ern, Lonesome George Ape Politicians In Tennessee Ernie's Premiere Program

BY JINGO Last year was the centennial of a speaking tour by two candidates for U. S. senator from Illinois. The precepts and principles laid down during that tour were so much to the points at issue, the tour became known as "The Great Debate."

The incumbent senator won reelection as the result of the debate, but his opponent became the first Republican president the following year. Now in the centennial year of that election, "The Great Debate" is being restaged, not between senatorial candidates but the presidential candidates themselves. Of course there will be no speaking tour. The debate will make use of television to reach the largest audience.

As Jimmy Durante is wont to point out, when anything strikes the right note, "Everybody wants to get into the act."

Tonight two most unlikely "everybodies," Tennessee Ernie Ford and George Gobel, will stage a "Great Debate" of their own to herald the return of Ford's NBC show, Sen. Ford and Gov. Gobel will sell their platforms with their geetars.

Dwayne Hickman, last year, helped shoot Max Shulman's "Dobie Gillis" to the TV top-of-vice versa. Tuesday he starts his second year by doing a take-off on Elvis on Channel 2.

At the very same time on Channel 11, Hugh O'Brian will start his sixth season in the "Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp." Despite historic evidence, Wyatt will remain as handsome as O'Brien playing "Two for the Seesaw" as he did all summer. There'll be no walrus mustache.

Next Wednesday, also on Channel 11, an all-time favorite.

Calumet Dropped From Suit to Recover Relief Chilton — Dist. Atty. Franklin J. Schmieder Wednesday waged a successful attempt to have a welfare suit filed against Calumet County by Winnebago County dismissed during a hearing before the State Department of Public Welfare, division of public assistance.

The case involved relief payments made by Winnebago County to Joseph Ottmann who claimed legal settlement in the code-fendant municipalities of Calumet and Outagamie Counties and the City of Appleton. London Ballet Gives 'Ondine' In New York
 By W. G. ROGERS
 AP Arts Editor

New York —A water sprite who steals the heart of the handsome mortal Palemon from his jealous Berta is the heroine of the new Frederick Ashton ballet movement's sake. And there were presented in the Metropolitan Opera House for the first time black-sleeved arm of Palemon Wednesday night by London's Royal Ballet.

Adapted from an oldtime story, it tells of fairy-like "Ondine's" too, chief among them Margot tary brass. Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Choi how she brought misfortune to them all—even the audience didn't get off scot-free.

It's a pretty ballet, in fact two pretty—girls with their hair down, sprites with diaphanous wings, impressionist backdrops, and the tendency, more popular with Europeans than Americans, to resolve a balletic chatter with a tableau—there were two in the first two acts.

Movement was too fluttery, or there was too much movement for the new Frederick Ashton ballet movement's sake. And there were presented in the Metropolitan Opera House for the first time black-sleeved arm of Palemon Wednesday night by London's Royal Ballet.

Adapted from an oldtime story, it tells of fairy-like "Ondine's" too, chief among them Margot tary brass. Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Choi thanks to her light-footed dancing and to the airy steps devised for her by Ashton. Michael Somes was her Palemon and Ondine's guardian spirit. Music was by Hans Werner Henze and scenery of Lila de Nobili. John Lanchbery conducted.

Criticize U. S. General For Korean Remarks
 Seoul, Korea —A South Korean chief of staff today criticized U.S. Gen. Williston B. Palmer for his remarks concerning the cleanup of South Korean military brass.

Kyung-nok said Palmer's remarks "created fresh causes for disturbance in the army."

He added that a cleanup of evils which existed under the regime of ousted President Syngman Rhee should not be taken as a sign of disturbance. Lately five generals, including one four-star officer, have been retired.

Palmer, Director of Military Assistance at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C., told newsmen he was gravely concerned over what he called a "great deal of uneasiness among high Korean military officials" over the retirement of top general officers.

Laotian Army Chief Announces First Clash In 11-Day-Old Conflict

Vientiane, Laos — Gen. Ouane Rathikone, commander of the Laotian army, announced today the first clash in the 11-day-old civil conflict between neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma and former Defense Minister Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

He said three of Nosavan's soldiers were killed and an undetermined number wounded in a fight Tuesday near Paksane, 100 miles northeast of Vientiane. Three of his soldiers were wounded, Gen. Rathikone said.

Phouma said planes from neighboring Thailand were seen landing mortars and ammunition for the rebel forces. Two companies of Nosavan's soldiers reached Paksane, he declared, by passing through Thailand. He added that the attack—and Thailand's alleged role in it—had been reported to U. N. representatives in Vientiane.

King Savang Vathana, who has been trying to bring the rival regimes together, summoned all military commanders to meet immediately at Luang Prabang. Nosavan, who has termed Phouma a pro-Communist, has blocked supplies from reaching Vientiane from the south.

He Had Good Reason To Change His Name

Des Moines — Off Thomas, 82, a retired janitor says his first name is not really "Off" though he has gone by it for many years.

His first name originally was "Theophilous", he says.

Charlie Hikes 12 Miles, Stops To Chat and Lunch on First Day

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Stangelville — I wandered today over the glacial hill country of eastern Kewaunee County, fresh and ready for the demands of the road after an unearned but wondrous farewell in the pretty city of Kewaunee. Often during the 12-mile march to Stangelville my only company were the red-legged grasshoppers, and woolly caterpillars which hunched their myopic way across the road.

Now and then the melancholy song of a wood peewee would brighten the trail too, and the blackbirds were gathering in windy contrast. But largely, my way was brightened by people.

Two of the prettiest to greet me were Jane Svoboda and Jeanne Neumann of Kewaunee. They were accompanied by a splendid French poodle named Gitan, born in Paris. Gitan wore a perky ribbon in its hair, a simulated pearl choker necklace and a haughty air. I do not remember what the ladies wore, but they looked pretty.

Birchwood Has None

I strolled through the tiny hamlet of Birchwood and met never a person and observed never a burch, but I noticed the old time blacksmith shop of Vincent Drensky, but Mr. Drensky was not to be found.

Anton Swiatosky, a farmer who lives nearby, left his tractor to chat with me. Anton, who runs this 160-acre farm alone, is a buster. At 49, his children have left home to live in nearby larger communities, but Anton is one of wise men of this world; he has never really left home. He lives only 100 yards from the house in which he was born.

I marched over the sandy area of a prehistoric lake, and was entertaining thoughts of borrowing an apple or two, but two kind farm ladies had been good enough to expect me. I dined then, on Gohemian kolatches, a wonderful pie made with a crust, cottage cheese and whipped prune mixed with sugar and spices.

Sophrena Renamed

My kind friends are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kralovetz and Mrs. Frank Fuess, all of nearby Ellenville.

That crossroads community was named sometime in the 1870s Sophrena. Her maiden name had been Ellis and Mr. Paddlesford must surely have been gallant. Hence Ellenville. It should perhaps be noted as a monument to his judgment that Ellenville is not Sophrena now. The population of the community, being minimal, is not known, but 25 is suggested as an approximation.

Rain Halts Hike

Rain has threatened from a leaden sky and I have come to a halt, however temporary, to report to you.

I scribbled this report from Konop's Restaurant and Bar, where tonight I will mangle fried chicken on which Vi's fame rests solidly.

The farewell afforded your wandering reporter in Kewaunee is certain to remain in my memory because it was so obviously sincere and friendly.

The mayor, Fay Temby, who is also publisher of the Kewaunee

Krishna Menon One of His Country's Powers

Critics Claim Indian Official Using His Office to Build Personal Machine

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

New Delhi, India — "Tirritates those who never see the am allergic to myself," he said, cordiality he can use effectively raising his massive eyebrows in a private way that imparted a malevolent air to his glance.

But his tone was friendly as V. K. Krishna Menon added to a visitor that he prefers not to talk about himself. "I don't keep notes of what I have done."

Many people in India do keep notes on him because Krishna Menon is one of the nation's most powerful figures in his job as defense minister and delegate to the United Nations.

No Political Strength

Some say that without the support of his friend and patron, Prime Minister Nehru, Krishna Menon would disappear immediately from the Indian scene because he has no political strength of his own. Others contend Krishna Menon is using the Defense Ministry to build a personal machine.

"They accuse me of having grand designs, but I don't," he says. "I just do things as they come up and need doing."

The things Krishna Menon does and the way he does them, make devoted friends and equally devoted enemies both in India and at the United Nations. His aloof, often haughty manner in public irritates those who never see him in private.

Newspaper Attacks

Waves of newspaper attacks have beaten against Krishna Menon. One wave was generated last year when he did not condemn Chinese suppression of Tibet and then lagged on criticism of China's actions on the Indian border. Whenever these attacks build up into parliamentary demands that Krishna Menon be removed from the Defense Ministry, Nehru gets angry.

A recurring question in New Delhi conversations is, "What does Nehru see in the man?" One answer is that Krishna Menon is a hard worker. Never married and without any home cause he has no political strength life, he wears out assistants by long hours of work seven days a week.

More important is the personal relationship between Nehru and Krishna Menon. Nehru is basically a lonely intellectual. His English education and tastes tend to isolate him from other Cabinet ministers. Only Krishna Menon shares his background, his intellectual grasp of the world, even his essentially Marxist approach to many subjects.

Gold Boom Fades

My departure was made, at least officially, from a point near what was once the mouth of the Kewaunee River. There, according to tradition, Father Marquette landed his canoe on Nov. 1, 1674.

Since that distant day, Kewaunee has gone far. So far, indeed, it moved in later years, that it once was engaged in a vendetta against the then minor city of Chicago. It appeared to all the watching world that Kewaunee, with its superb natural harbor, would soon outstrip the Illinois upstart.

Added to Kewaunee's attraction was the discovery of gold in quantities by a now forgotten explorer. Kewaunee became the El Dorado of the west. Even Salmon P. Chase, who became the chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, and who presided over the impeachment trial of President Johnson, bought land speculatively as did the prince of fur traders, John Jacob Astor.

But the Kewaunee gold was not there in sufficient quantities. The land boom faded and Chicago grew apace. To some, this is a disappointment.

Not to me! I like Kewaunee as it is."

Restrain State From Removing Billboard Signs

Madison — A temporary injunction has been issued by Circuit Judge Edwin M. Wilke restraining the State Highway Commission from removing billboards along parts of Interstate 94 in Racine County.

The judge set Sept. 26 for a hearing on the injunction and directed the commission to show cause why it should not be made permanent.

The proceedings were brought Wednesday by Warren and Wayne Fuller of Sturtevant and about 60 Racine County businessmen.

The businessmen claim that a billboard law, passed by the 1959 Legislature violates state and federal constitutions by allowing confiscation of property without due process of law.

Tip of the Hat, a Smile, and Post-Crescent columnist Charles House begins his annual walk into autumn, this year from Kewaunee to Iola. The 72-piece Kewaunee High School Band was on hand Wednesday morning to help him start off in step.

The law was passed to make boards along interstate highways conform with Wisconsin statutes conform with federal regulations covering bill- sion to order removal of signs.

General Arthur E. Summerfield. The stamp will be first placed on sale Sept. 26 at Washington, D. C. The design featuring the Washington Monument and cherry blossoms was described in this column a few weeks ago.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the 4-cent commemorative may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps, to the Postmaster, Washington 15, D. C.

Bear in mind that this is a very special stamp and covers should be addressed low and as far to the left as possible.

The stamp's designer was Miss Eileen Mayo of Neutral Bay, New South Wales, whose other designs were used on the 8-pence Tiger Cat, 9-pence Kangaroos and the 1-shilling platypus stamps.

Banded Anteater to Replace Old Aussie Kookaburra Issue

BY SYD KRONISH
AP Newsman

Ever see a banded anteater? If not, you have the opportunity on a new 6-pence brown postage stamp soon to be issued by Australia.

Scheduled for release on Sept. 30, the adhesive will replace the 6-pence Kookaburra stamp which has been in use for 23 years. The banded anteater stamp issue will coincide with the South Australian Philatelic Exhibition which opens Sept. 29 and closes Oct. 1 in Adelaide.

The stamp's designer was Miss Eileen Mayo of Neutral Bay, New South Wales, whose other designs were used on the 8-pence Tiger Cat, 9-pence Kangaroos and the 1-shilling platypus stamps.

Feted at a special breakfast in Seiler's Restaurant, he met more than 60 Kewaunee businessmen, some bearing gifts. The entire breakfast group adjourned to a prominent point near the city's downtown section for an official sendoff, highlighted by a few comments from Mayor C. E. Temby. Then, with a police car leading the way, the 72-piece Kewaunee High School Band struck up a marching air and headed for the outskirts. Behind them came House, the newspaper's diplomat, waving to small children and doffing his hat to adults along the parade route. There was one point during the brief parade in which Charlie almost forgot himself. It happened when the band spurred into a familiar marching tune. The reporter's shoulders snapped back, his head came erect and his feet stepped off sure, confident cadence. Knowing persons couldn't help remember that 15 years ago House had other memorable walks, through bomb-battered Europe as a foot soldier with the 16th Infantry Division. In comparison, this jaunt was a holiday. Along the way he'll visit historic

Xavier Meets Pacelli High Saturday Night

Goodland Field Visitors Unbeaten In Two Starts

Xavier High school's Hawks face their second straight rugged football test Saturday night when they entertain Stevens Point Pacelli. Game time, at Goodland field, is 8 p.m.

Xavier rolled up 63 points to none for Pittsville Maryheart and Manawa in the Hawks' first two games. Strong Sevastopol — the only conqueror of Xavier last season—tied the Hawks, 20-20, last week.

Pacelli is unbeaten in two starts, thumping Hortonville of the Little Nine, 32-8, in a non-conference season opener and shading a solid Pennings High, 7-6, last weekend.

All-Senior Backfield The Stevens Point outfit, coached by former star University of Minnesota guard Dick Dargis, has an all-senior backfield. (New school Xavier won't add a senior class until next year).

Quarterback Bob Ryskowski does

This is the Coaching Staff that directed the 1959 Green Bay Packers to a 7-5 league record last year (the club's best since 1945) and led the 1960 team to a 6-0 exhibition season. From left to right, are Bill Austin, offensive line coach; Phil Bengtson, defensive line coach; Vince Lombardi, head coach; Red Cochran, offensive backfield coach; and Norb Hecker, defensive backfield coach. The strategy board Sunday matches wits against George Halas and Co., in the Packer-Bear league opener.

Spahn Stops Reds, 3-1, for 21st Victory

Aaron Blasts His 38th Homer, Drives In Two Runs

Milwaukee — Veteran southpaw Warren Spahn chalked up his 21st victory and Henry Aaron drove in two runs—one with his 38th homer—Wednesday night.

As a result, the Milwaukee Braves beat the Cincinnati Reds 3-1 to hang on grimly in the rapidly closing National League pennant race.

The victory enabled the third-place Braves to pick up one-half game on the idle Pirates and gain a full game on the second-place St. Louis Cardinals.

The fact remains, however, that the Braves still trail the Pirates by 7½ games and they have only eight left to play. They are idle today while Pittsburgh plays two games. Milwaukee would be eliminated if the Pirates won both games.

Spahn, 39-year-old Milwaukee mound ace, chalked up his 28th victory in holding the Reds to seven scattered hits. He was in something less than the no-hit form of last Friday when he blanked the Phillies but he was effective when he had to be and got some good support to help him out of jams on a couple of occasions.

O'Toole Loser The loser was Jim O'Toole, a former Wisconsin star, who has not been able to beat the Braves. He now has an 0-8 record against Milwaukee and is 12-12 for this season.

NOTES and NOTIONS

Football, which has been inching its way toward the center of Wisconsin's sports stage for some weeks now, takes over the spotlight, unchallenged, this weekend. With considerable reservations, the proprietor of this column opens official "Predictions league" play sans benefit of an exhibition schedule.

Packers over Bears—Against any other club, the unbeaten, "summer league" champion Bays might be afflicted with a little complacency. But there seems no danger of that happening against their natural enemies, the Bears. Not only will the Vince Lombardi-coached gladiators have the home crowd to cheer them along, but they seem to be a little farther advanced at this stage of 1960 than the Wiesner Bears. This is to advise Lombardi against betting too big a bundle on the Bays, however. The Bears will have a lot going for them psychologically (that 35-7 exhibition loss and last year's 9-6 defeat) as well as physically in the return of Rick Casares, who was held out of the August game.

Stanford over Wisconsin—The Indians have the experience gained in playing an early opener last weekend, the pitching arm of Dick Norman and the home stadium. The Badgers, however, won't be pushed around now that such threats as Ron Miller and Tom Wiesner have won first-team status.

Marquette over College of Pacific—The Warriors got away to an encouraging start against Villanova, while COP isn't up to the standard of the Dick Bass era, which ended last November.

Lawrence over Knox—On paper, the home-standing Siwashers perhaps rule narrow favorites. But, if the game is close—and it figures to be—the Vikes will have the percentages in their favor (they've taken five straight season-opening losses and they bowed by 2 and 1-point margins to Knox in the last two meetings). Lawrence will be able to substitute a little more freely this season without weakening the lineup.

Appleton over East—The Terrors showed enough in the first half of the Menasha game to be able to take the always-dangerous but somewhat under-strength Red Devils.

St. Mary over St. John—Ralph McClone and Bill Fitzpatrick renew their coaching rivalry in the Fox Cities area's "prep game of the week." The Zephyrs beat Wisconsin Rapids Assumption, the same team that later smeared Premontre.

McClone 34-0. St. Mary also has the Fitzpatrick edge in experienced personnel. But the Chuters, and their quarterback find, Jim Geurts, could do it in a game that figures to be close all the way.

Kaukauna over Kimberly—This flaming rivalry could produce another pip of a game. The Ghosts are the pick here on the basis of the offensive potential they showed against Sheboygan North.

Neenah over Shawano—The Rockets will be high after their loss to Fond du Lac—so look out.

Clintonville over Two Rivers—The Truckers gave signs last Friday of being loaded again this year. And, the Raiders didn't show a great deal against Manitowoc.

Menasha over New London—This shapes up as a close one, but the Jays have the speed to take it.

Other games: Xavier over Pacelli. Northwestern Preps over Fox Lutheran. Green Bay West over Oshkosh. Manitowoc over North, Fond du Lac over Sheboygan South. Carleton over Cornell, Grinnell over Monmouth. Coe over Ripon, St. Olaf over Beloit, Kiel over Chilton. Kohler over Brillion, Wrightstown over Shiocton, Winneconne over Omro, Freedom over Reedsville, Hortonville over Denmark, Bonduel over Manawa, Wittenberg over Marion, Seymour over Algoma.

Cardinals Visit Rams Friday For NFL's Season-Launcher

Dallas '11' Plays Host to Steelers On Saturday

By MIKE RATHER Associated Press Sports Writer

The new-look National Football League, confronted with competition at the turnstiles for the first time in a decade, inaugurates its 41st season Friday night as the St. Louis Cardinals invade Los Angeles for the official opener with the Rams.

Hopeful of cracking its attendance record for the ninth consecutive year despite the emergence of the competing American league, the NFL has expanded to 13 teams with the addition of the Dallas Cowboys, and shifted the Cardinals' franchise from Chicago in an attempt to strengthen the circuit.

The Cowboys, coached by former New York assistant Tom Landry, will raise the curtain on their NFL-stocked club Saturday night in the Cotton Bowl against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

4 Games Sunday

With the St. Louis-Los Angeles and Dallas-Pittsburgh games getting the spotlight treatment on separate days, the NFL pushes its main cast of stars on stage Sunday with a four-game program.

The Washington Redskins will meet the defending champion Colts in Baltimore. Eastern Division titlist New York is at San Francisco. Cleveland tackles the Chicago Bears in their opening NFL game at Philadelphia and Green National Football League game here Bay hosts the Bears, now the lone Sunday.

Chicago representative Under the 13-club arrangement, Minneapolis-St. Paul is scheduled to balance the league in 1961. One team will be idle each week. Detroit sits out the first one.

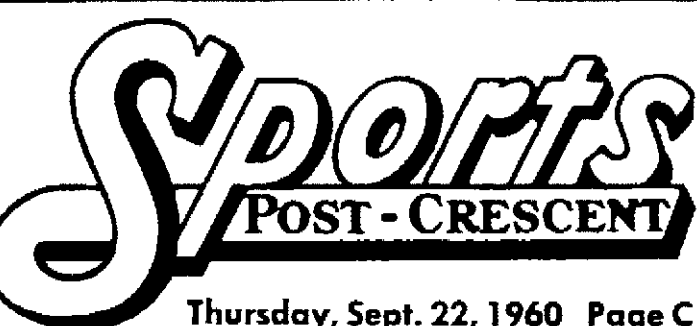

The well-established and financially successful NFL will be in competition with the fledgling American league in four cities — Dallas, Los Angeles, New York and San Francisco, where Packers' showing in that game as the Oakland AFL club will play its home games.

Still the NFL has had tremendous advance ticket sales, and of its exhibition games, displayed commissioner Pete Rozelle figures another attendance mark will be shattered. Last year 3,140,409 turned out for the 72 league games.

Packers Rated 1-Point Choice

Lombardi Calls Odds for Bear Game 'Ridiculous'

Green Bay — (AP) — The Green Bay Packers were rated as a one-point favorite today over the Chicago Bears in their opening National Football League game here

Packer Coach Vince Lombardi, however, called the odds ridiculous and continued to give his players the same long drills that they have had for the past several weeks.

The Packers beat the Bears 9-0 in the first game of 1959 and beat them 35-7 in an exhibition game a few weeks ago. Both coaches, however, discount the Oakland AFL club will play an indication of what might happen Sunday.

Green Bay, in winning all six of its exhibition games, displayed a potent offense and a rugged defense in rolling up 175 points while holding its opponents to 71. The Packers had an offensive margin both in the air and on the ground in every game.

The Packers apparently haven't any glaring weaknesses. But, as the coach pointed out, "we don't have a bunch of spectacular players either." Lombardi's biggest worry is a possible lack of depth.

to a little power, a lot of pitching and enough luck to break the bank in Las Vegas.

Since taking charge with that four-game, weekend sweep over Baltimore, the Yankees have rolled up 12 runs in two games and have won both—but only two of the runs, both homers by Mickey Mantle, were earned.

The Yankees took a 10-3 victory over Washington Wednesday with the help of nine unearned runs on four Senator errors.

10th in 12 Games

It was the sixth straight win for the Yankees, and their 10th in 12 games, pushing them into a 4½-game lead over Chicago. The defending champion White Sox, who have eight games left took over second place by beating Kansas City 7-2 Wednesday night after Boston had spilled Baltimore to third, beating the Orioles 4-1 behind Ike Delock's three-hit pitching, in the only other AL games scheduled.

Any combination of New York victories and White Sox defeats totaling five clinches a 10th flag for the Yankees' Casey Stengel, who would tie John McGraw as the majors' all-time top pennant winner. The magic number is four over the Orioles, who trail by five with seven to play.

Perez Seeks Kingpitch's Title Tonight

Los Angeles — (AP) — Youthful Pone Kingpitch, the only son of Thailand to win a world boxing championship, puts his flyweight title on the line tonight against the ex-champion, Argentina's Pascual Perez.

The 15-round scrap between the world's best 112-pounders goes on in Olympic Auditorium at 9:30 p.m. PDT. There will be no radio or television coverage in this country.

Odds figure to be about even in the first major flyweight title match held here since Fidel La Barba defeated Frankie Genaro in 1925 for the American version of the championship.

The 24-year-old Kingpitch will be making the first defense of the crown he lifted from Perez via a split decision in a torrid 15-round fight last April 16 in his native Bangkok.

Perez at 34 a veteran of a dozen or more years as an amateur boxer and a professional, had lost but one match in his pro career until he encountered young Pone.

Perez won the honor from Japan's Yoshio Shirai in 1954 and had made at least 12 defenses, lows like Vern Law, Bob Friend boxing all over the world. This, and Vinegar Bend Mizell. They're taking advantage of it and beat you in the United States for either fighter.

conceded the flag to the Yankees and have awarded the National League pennant to Pittsburgh, while making New York a 5-7 favorite over the Pirates in the World Series.

Mantle's 37th home run, in the fourth inning, was the Yankees' first hit off loser Pete Ramos (11-16) of the Nats, who left when New York scored seven runs, all unearned, in the fifth.

Whitey Ford (11-9) was the winner, after giving up a solo home run by Earl Battey and trailing 3-0. It was the seventh consecutive time the southpaw veteran, lifted for a pinch-hitter in the fifth, has failed to finish Duke Maas mopped up with a two-hit relief job.

The White Sox beat the A's Bud Daley (13-15) with two-run homers by Minnie Minoso and Jim Landis. Herb Score (5-10) was the winner. Delock, (9-9) a 33-year-old right-hander, allowed the Orioles nothing but singles, struck out seven and walked one. Baltimore's lefty Steve Barber (10-7) was the loser.

Despite Lack Of Stars, Army Could Surprise

Spirited Club Hopes to Better 1959's .500 Mark

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer
West Point, N. Y. — It's a very average football team that will take the field in the nine remaining games for Army this year. But it may also turn out to be the toughest, most spirited club they've seen up here in many a year. And one that could better its 4-4-1 1959 record if the injury bug passes by.

Coach Dale Hall said today, "Our team has no depth and no stars."

Going down Army's lineup, it is hard to find anyone past guard Al Vanderbush who excelled last year when injuries racked up a fine squad.

2 Deep in Line

"We are two deep at every line position and this alleviates some worry," Hall said.

His backs include Tom Blanda at quarterback, George Kirschbauer and Glen Adams at half-back and Al Rushatz at fullback. Adams was the No. 1 signal-caller until halfbacks Roger Zaiskas and Pete King went on the injured list shortly before Army's 37-0 inaugural victory over Buffalo last Saturday.

Army's backs have more experience after having been forced to play so much last year, Hall said. "And they're just those good solid backs, not super stars."

They'll have to be very solid to face a strong Boston College team here this weekend after BC outplayed Navy last week before losing 22-7.

Area Bowling

Ruth Pennings' 511 Series Leads 12 Corners Loop

Ruth Pennings captured game and series honors in the latest edition of Women's league bowling at Twelve Corners. She bowled a 511 threesome and a 206 game.

There were no other honor scores. Twelve Corners tavern 60' owns a 2-game lead. Dennis Runge slapped a 551 for Sherwood Wreckers in the Sherwood Sportsman's wheel. Birling Dairy and Thiel's Cheese (51-1) share first place.

Two Rivers — The Raiders have their biggest squad in recent seasons. It includes nine lettermen. They are Dick Rummisa, Bob regular, Ken Kavanaugh and Bruce Bay, backs, and Pete er, Phil Gospodarek, Jeff Levan-Bachhuber, John Borree, Ron De Broux, "Chuck" Dorn, Bob Morris, Tom Brigham, Joe Wouters, John Britten and Bill Jyrkovic, linemen. Rusch Bests Schmidt In Tourney Finals, 1-0

Waupaca County Nine Nips LC-K At Green Bay

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay—The Waupaca county team defeated Little Chute, Kimberly (the Outagamie representative), 1-0, here Wednesday night in the championship game of the Northeast Wisconsin Amateur Baseball Tournament.

Sheldon Rusch bested Bob Schmidt in a brilliant pitchers' duel at Joannes Park. Only 124 fans turned out, bringing the total tourney attendance to 1,217.

The winning run scored in the bottom of the ninth when Schmidt walked Herb Wilde with the bases loaded. After an error and a bunt single had put runners on first and second, Lomie Knoke advanced them with a perfect sacrifice.

Rusch was intentionally passed, filling the bases and setting the stage for the base on balls.

Rusch gave up six hits and struck out 14. Schmidt allowed the Waupaca entry (comprising New London and Weyauwega players; only five hits and fanned 10.

The "best pitcher" trophy went to Jackie Brauer of Door county, and most valuable player trophy to Shelly Rusch. Brauer hurled a no-hitter in his only appearance.

Officials named an all-tournament team consisting of first baseman Bob Felda (Fond du Lac), second baseman Clem Massey (Winnebago), third baseman Kermit Jorgenson (Door), shortstop Turk Flory (Marathon), outfielders Jack McDermid (Oconto), Roger Vander Wyst (Outagamie), and Pat Simons (Brown), catcher Jerry Senzig (Shawano), and pitchers Brauer and Rusch.

Floyd Hammen, of Outagamie, back Dave Theisen who was running at full speed for the first time since getting a charley horse in the Villanova opener last week.

However, fullback Mike Koehler donned a uniform and tried to take his turn with the regulars but couldn't make it. He returned to the clubhouse for more treatment of a strained back muscle.

Sisk At Right Half

Theisen earlier alternated with Bob Collins as the first string left half post but appeared to have the position won when he ripped off 107 yards in the first half of the Villanova game. He had to retire, however, and had been lumping since that time.

Working with Theisen in the first team backfield Wednesday were Bill Johnson at quarterback, John Sisk at right half and Mike Shea at fullback.

Blackbourn said that his offense has been coming along well enough but he is not satisfied with the Warriors' defense. He gave the 31-year-old drag strip operator ended his current series of speed runs after reaching only 305 miles an hour in one spin Tuesday.

Theisen Runs At Full Speed

Blackbourn Still Not Pleased With Warrior Defense

Milwaukee — P — Marquette Coach Lisle Blackbourn was both pleased and disappointed Wednesday as he ran his Warriors through another long drill in preparation for their Saturday night's game at Stockton, Calif., and Pat Simons (Brown), catcher Jerry Senzig (Shawano), and pitchers Brauer and Rusch.

His pleasure came from the performance of sophomore halfback Dave Theisen who was running at full speed for the first time since getting a charley horse in the Villanova opener last week.

However, fullback Mike Koehler donned a uniform and tried to take his turn with the regulars but couldn't make it. He returned to the clubhouse for more treatment of a strained back muscle.

Viking Harriers Face Lakeland

Collins and Stout Are Lone Lettermen On Lawrence Team

The 1960 Lawrence college cross country team opens its season Saturday morning as host to Lakeland on the Reid Municipal golf course.

Chuck Collins and Bill Stout are the only returning lettermen on the 10-man varsity squad.

Tad Pinkerton, the 1959 Midwest conference individual harrier champion who is now employed in the Lawrence admissions office, is serving as coach for the '60 edition. Other principal graduation losses, besides Pinkerton, are Ron Simon and Ron Traver.

Knee Injury

Stout and sophomore Reed Williams loom as the 1-2 men on the Viking team. Williams was hobbled by a wrenched knee for six weeks during the summer but has begun to reach good form in practice.

Collins is the only senior on the squad. Juniors, besides Stout, are Buck Ellsworth, Jim Jordan, Drew Becker and Chuck Engberg. Sophs, in addition to Williams, are Jim Carey, Bill Stillwell, and Herb Weber.

Lakeland competed in cross country for the first time last fall, losing its only meet to Carroll. Veteran trackmen Charley Strub and Gordon Epps lead the Lakeland team.

Talks About 1961

Hemus Says Young Cardinals Can be Expected to Improve

St. Louis — P — Solly Hemus Julian Javier at second base. The had the last laugh on his prediction that his St. Louis Cardinals would be a pennant contender this season. Now his forecast that "We'll be improved in '61" can be taken as a warning.

The Redbird manager points out that his is essentially a young club that can reasonably be expected to improve.

"We started the season with a much different pitching staff than that with which we finished," Solly said. "You'll have to agree our pitching for 1961 holds more promise than it did before this season."

'Cats' No. 3 Unit Is Rough With First '11'

Illini's Yukevich Will be Ready For Indiana Game

Chicago — P — Midwest football briefs:

Northwestern—Sophomore halfback Chuck Brainerd of Dixon, Ill., made several long gains as the No. 3 unit showed the first stringers all over the field in a scrimmage.

Illinois—Stan Yukevich, No. 1 center, worked out after a six-day layoff because of injury and will be ready to face Indiana Saturday. Tony Parrilli continued to hold the starting left guard spot as Pat Lennon nursed a sprained ankle.

Indiana—Junior Bryon Broome, 195-pound fullback, was switched to tailback with the hope of sharpening the squad's timing.

Minnesota — Tom Robbins is the likely choice to start at fullback against Nebraska since Roger Hagberg still is out with an earache. Only one letterman tackle is ready for the opener.

Michigan State — The Spartans will alternate offensive and defensive units plus a complete alternate unit against Pitt, "no matter what the score," said Coach Duffy Daugherty.

Notre Dame — Captain Myron Pottison senior left guard, may miss the opener with California because of a painful left toe sprain.

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Selection of Paul J. Mineau, widely known DePere businessman and sportsman, as a member of the state resources development advisory committee was announced today by Gov. Gaylord Nelson.

Mineau is the president of the big Northeastern Wisconsin Conservation Council, a leader of the Brown County Conservation Alliance, and president of the P. J. Mineau Machine company of DePere.

Nelson a month ago named other members of the advisory group that will work with the new state department of resources development. The advisory committee originally was planned by Nelson also as a screening agency for the selection of members of the state Conservation Commission, but the legislature declined to enact the Conservation Commission reorganization scheme asked by the governor.

Has Been Active

Mineau has been active in watershed restoration and trout stream improvement work in northeastern Wisconsin, and is chairman of the water improvement committee of the Brown County Alliance.

He is co-inventor, with Ben Winton of Plymouth, of a water aerating device for trout streams that is now being produced at his plant in DePere.

Xavier Meets Pacelli High

the passing for the T-formation club, Bill Tuszka, a 6-0, 199-pound end, is a frequent target. Pacelli finished with 3-4-1 season's mark last year. The Pointers compete in the Central Wisconsin Catholic conference.

Xavier Coach Gene "Torchy" Clark plans to start the same line who opened against Sevastopol with Neenah sophomore Dick Wagner as the quarterback.

Two players—junior quarterback Paul Zeegers and halfback Chuck Lueck—have dropped from the squad, Clark reports. Lueck had been bothered by an injured shoulder muscle and hadn't seen any game action.

Fullback Tom Peeters continues to pace Xavier scorers. The crunching, 190-pound sophomore counted 14 points against Sevastopol with one other touchdown called back and now has 36 points.

Groat's Backing for MVP Honors Is Solid

Brown, Murtaugh, Haddix Say Dick Key to Success

By JOE REKCHLER

Pittsburgh — P — Just about every one you meet in these parts is convinced that Dick Groat, the shortstop and captain of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is the National League's player of the year for 1960.

Mention such names as Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs or Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants and they give you that disdainful stare which, you interpret as meaning "Where have you been all year?" Banks and Mays are good, they acknowledge, but neither has made the over-all contributions to his team this year that Groat has.

Joe Brown, the youthful general manager of the pennant-bound Pirates, asks: "where would we be without him?"

Danny Murtaugh, the quiet, almost unobtrusive manager of the 10.

Bucs. says: "Groat! He's the guy who's held us together."

"We wouldn't be where we are without him," declares Harvey Haddix, the club's star southpaw. "Until he was hurt, he was instrumental in one way or another, in virtually every one of our victories."

The lone dissenter is Groat. "It's not fair to the rest of the club to single out one player and say he has been most responsible for winning the pennant," said Groat. "If we win, and I think we will, it will be strictly a team victory."

Trash Burning Law Effective This Sunday

Ordinance Says Restricted Hours
Are 2 to 7 p.m.

Starting at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, trash may be burned in the City of Appleton only between 2 and 7 p.m.

The ordinance restricting trash burning was given its final reading to the council Wednesday and passed. It will be published by City Clerk Elden Broehm in Saturday's paper.

The fire department ran several advertisements several months ago warning of restricted hours. But this resulted from a misunderstanding of an ordinance which specified the type of trash burners allowed.

Asks Ordinances

Two resolutions asking ordinances covering contractors hired by the city were submitted by Ald. Thomas Schneider.

One asks that financial responsibility and quality of workmanship of prospective contractors be determined before bids are accepted.

The other seeks completion dates for contracts, to prevent work from running behind schedule.

Both were prompted by board of public works action when it denied a contract to Penterman and Brown Excavating Co.

The board was critical of the firm's past work record for the city, and gave the storm sewer contract to C. A. Green and Son, the next lowest bidder.

Schneider said bidders should be pre-qualified, not post-qualified.

Penterman and Brown turned down another job, thinking they had secured the Appleton contract on their low bid.

The alderman said he thought completion dates are needed because of past experience where jobs are awarded early in spring or summer and the work isn't started until late August or September.

Green Bay Man on Resources Committee

Madison — Paul J. Mineau, 49, Green Bay, head of a machine company in De Pere, was appointed a citizen member of the Wisconsin Resources Development Advisory Committee by Gov. Gaylord Nelson today.

Mineau is president of the 11,000-member Northeastern Wisconsin Conservation Council, chairman of the Brown County Conservation Alliance's watershed improvement committee and a director of the De Pere Sportsman's Club.

Girl Injured Doing Classroom Exercises

Council Follows 'Roberts Rules', Mitchell Says

Ald. Dorothy Stollings asked Mayor Clarence Mitchell Wednesday if the council is going to operate according to "Roberts Rules of Order," as specified in council Rule 22.

The mayor said it would, "as it has always in the past." Mrs. Stollings cited several passages from Roberts rules on whom may speak and when. "A Hinkens was given a five-day stay of sentence to appeal the case."

Hinkens had pleaded innocent when he appeared before Schmiege May 3. Hinkens was arrested by Appleton police after he hit the open door of an auto and injured a man entering the car in the 700 block of W. Brewster St.

Police said he could give no clear description of the accident. Hinkens refused a drunkometer test.

Previous convictions include two out of order several times by the mayor while several aldermen criticized her "continual sniping" and attacking of other aldermen.

When the mayor said Rule 22 and Roberts rules would be followed Mrs. Stollings replied, "Thank you, your honor, I hope we do."

2 Youths Arrested For Stealing Car

Two youths, 18 and 16 years old, were arrested by Appleton police Wednesday night, and a car the pair had taken from a Black Creek Bowling Alley recovered.

The youths were stopped in the 100 block of S. State Street after Outagamie County Police had put out an alert for the missing car belonging to Jack Hufe, Shoocon. Hufe had left the keys in his car.

Another theft, that of a car owned by Willard Hoyer, 925 W. Roberts St., was admitted by the older boy. He said he was going to hitch-hike home to Black Creek from Appleton when he saw the car parked at the intersection of Richmond and Brewster Streets Aug. 14.

Lock Damaged

No new entries were reported in Appleton since yesterday. One attempted entry, however, in the 500 block of W. 8th Street was reported about 1 a.m. Wednesday. A lock was damaged on the back door of a home.

Tipsy Driver May Appeal

Given 5-Day Stay
Of Sentence

John H. Hinkens, 33, of 922 W. Brewster St., was fined $150 and lost his right to drive for a year when he was found guilty of drunken driving by Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiege today.

Hinkens was given a five-day stay of sentence to appeal the case. Hinkens had pleaded innocent when he appeared before Schmiege May 3. Hinkens was arrested by Appleton police after he hit the open door of an auto and injured a man entering the car in the 700 block of W. Brewster St.

Police said he could give no clear description of the accident. Hinkens refused a drunkometer test.

Previous convictions include two out of order several times by the mayor while several aldermen criticized her "continual sniping" and attacking of other aldermen.

Salem Police Arrested For Nudists Protesting 1692 Witch-Hangings

Salem, Mass. — P — The police kept Gallows Hill under surveillance Wednesday night, alert for appearance of female nudists protesting the hanging there in 1692 of 20 "witches."

But the only nude encountered was a 5-year-old miss who had lost her panties. About a week ago Mayor Francis Collins received a letter signed "Robert Clogher, public relations, National Nudist Council, Lyons, N. J.," advising him the demonstration would be held today. The letter asked the mayor to recruit some Salem women over 21 as participants.

The mayor ignored the letter, but the police took no chances.

Byrnes Enlivens Lodge Rally With Blunt Description of Democrats

Green Bay — Rep. John Byrnes had some blunt descriptions of Sen. John Kennedy when introducing Henry Cabot Lodge Wednesday night at WBAY Auditorium.

Byrnes said Lodge was one who had stood up to the Russians and defeated them in the court of world opinion and one who had never apologized to Nikita Khrushchev, a reference to a remark attributed to Kennedy when the U-2 incident broke.

The Democratic ticket, Byrnes said, features an "attractive young man joined by a marriage of convenience to a practical politician" and attended by a flock of Harvard professors.

"In Wisconsin, we have old-fashioned ideas that we elect a man, not college faculties to the office of President of the United States," he said.

Lodge praised Byrnes as a "very worthy representative of this district and a great credit to you. I am glad to be on the ticket with him."

But the Lodge research staff slipped. Lodge twice praised Byrnes because of his membership on the important House Rules Committee. Byrnes is on the Ways and Means Committee and is chairman of the House GOP Policy Committee.

Proper research had been done, however, for the stock reference to the Packers, a remark which brought applause.

Philip Kuehn, candidate for governor, renewed a challenge to Gov. Gaylord Nelson for another TV debate in his brief remarks before Lodge spoke. Kuehn said before Lodge spoke Kuehn said TV time was available Nov. 3 and that he would fit into his schedule if Nelson would do the same.

Lodge spoke without a script. He struggled with hoarseness at the start of his speech at night, which he blamed on motorcades.

An afternoon press conference was cancelled and an Indiana scheduled stay was shortened. The explanation to newsmen was that Lodge was preparing himself for a national TV show this weekend.

About 100 persons were at Straubel Field to see Lodge and his wife arrive. Byrnes led area Republicans to the plane steps to greet Lodge and make introductions.

Kuehn and his wife made the trip from Madison with Lodge. Ten newsmen also were aboard.

Robert Warren, candidate for district attorney, presided at the night rally.

Mayor Roman Denissen presented Lodge with a Packer blanket and a key to the city in a brief ceremony in the throng which jammed the sidewalks as Lodge reached Hotel Northland.

Different Stories Told in Murder Trial

and Heidemann and Gillham were a home for Miss Hoskins and her children.

The young Chicagoan said she never married to Gillham. However, under questioning, she admitted she did tell Gillham they had been married while he was drinking in Joliet during the trip from Hammond, Ind., to California. Gloria, her mother, her mother's boyfriend and Gillham took the trip five days after she met him.

Baptized Children
Gloria also told her grandmother and other people of the Joliet marriage when she returned to Wisconsin. Her two children were baptized at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, Hortonville, as Gillham's.

Twice during her life with Gillham Gloria admitted returning to the New London farm and made plans to marry Heidemann. She said they had blood tests taken at Bear Creek but was vague about the date when questioned. She said Heidemann was planning on taking out their marriage license the day after he was shot.

Cain attempted to get into the testimony reference to a paper he claims the state has that purports to be Gloria's divorce from kins, after she was wounded in Gillham. However, the special prosecutor was able to block the move on the grounds it was a side issue not germane to the murder trial.

David Gillham admitted during the cross-examination by his uncle's attorney, Allan Cain, Kaukauna, that he had lied twice during the preliminary hearing.

He said that he had testified during the hearing he had bought the weapon six months before the Jan. 8 shooting. He claimed Wednesday he bought the gun Jan. 4 for his uncle.

Lied to Help
He told Cain he had lied to help his uncle.

The younger Gillham said the other lie was his testimony during the hearing that he had not been drinking on the day of the shooting. He said he and his uncle both had more than five drinks at various places between Chicago and the Heidemann home.

Another new factor in the case was brought out by Richard Johnson, prosecuting attorney. This concerned the fact that Garvin Gillham brought the gun to his own head after shooting Miss Hoskins in the attic.

The nephew and Miss Hoskins said that he persuaded Garvin Gillham not to kill himself as he threatened to do.

Witness Weeps

firemen had to clear aisles, and about 100 persons heard Lodge from the balcony.

Lodge emphasized the importance of the United States "practicing some identical paragraphs of ticing what we preach" about the need for far-sighted diplomatic equality of man as set forth in his talk at Clintonville, St. in the Declaration of Independence and his 20-minute speech at night.

The content demonstrated that the reason Lodge was picked to run with Richard Nixon was not for the old idea of appealing argument than balancing a ticket with geographical areas or domestic interests.

Lodge dwelled on his seven years at the U.N. He reminded his more partisan night audience that Nixon has said that Lodge as vice president will direct all non-military aspects of the cold struggle.

"So, you see, if I am elected in November, I will have my hands full," he said.

No On-Job Training
Lodge made a plain comparison between Nixon and perhaps question at St. Norbert College, himself, and Sen. John Kennedy. What was his reaction to the two as leading foreign policy in the National Security Agencies men next administration.

"This is no time for on-the-job training," he said to applause.

Lodge's views of what could be both traitors and if we get come from the present frustration of them we ought to shoot in U.N. session came after he had explained in detail how he had learned you can never take what the Russians say at face value. What then, a woman asked with some spark, can possibly be accomplished by this U.N. session?

World Opinion
Lodge said the forum gave a chance to show world opinion the Russian objectives and their getting control of the Congo, of reminding the world what happened in the Hungarian effort for freedom, and for showing that it takes more than slogans to bring a disarmament agreement.

In his two talks, Lodge emphasized the importance of meeting every Russian charge with a prompt and truthful answer.

"I've been accused of standing up to the Russians and I make

The Eyewitness to the Slaying of Frank Heidemann, 40, Route 2, New London, on Jan. 8, is David Gillham, nephew of Garvin Lee Gillham, on trial for first degree murder in the death. He arrived in Waupaca to testify with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gillham, Chicago.

C&NW Sets Train Schedules For Standard Time

Chicago & North Western Railway has announced its schedule of trains, beginning with the return to Central Standard Time Sunday morning.

Trains will leave Appleton for Milwaukee and Chicago at the following standard times:
No. 206, 6:13 a.m. daily; No. 212, 1:09 a.m. daily; No. 240, 9:49 a.m. Sunday; No. 216, 3:37 p.m. daily; and No. 224, 9:15 p.m. daily except Sunday.

Trains will arrive from Chicago at the following times:
No. 211, 1:51 a.m. daily; No. 217, 5:17 a.m. daily; No. 149, 11:41 a.m. daily except Sunday; No. 239, 11:32 a.m. Sunday; and No. 209, 7:12 p.m. daily.

The northbound trains continue on to Green Bay.

Each was charged with unlawful entry of a manhole, and held in $500 bail.

It was Robbins' second brush with the law in sewer matters. The first time he had been luckier; the city had employed him last July to look for weak spots in the system, on the basis of his exhaustive knowledge of sewer geography.

Praises Nixon; Says of Kennedy: No Time for on Job Training

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — Republican Vice Presidential Candidate Henry Cabot Lodge got a warm reception and an attentive audience in Madison Wednesday as he made his first campaign stop in a community that has heavily favored the Democratic party.

Republican state officers were pleased and a little startled when Lodge found more than 1,500 townspeople crowded near the statehouse steps in spite of a delay in his arrival of more than an hour, and an appreciative response to his declaration that the great challenge in world affairs today is the Soviet march toward world imperialism.

The applause was hearty when he asserted that "they're not going to take over the world."

Praises Nixon
The UN ambassador for the last eight years scored again with the open-air crowd when he plugged Americans in 1960, he said, "but Presidential Candidate Richard Nixon as a wise humanitarian of Soviet imperialism. The United States, working through the United Nations, will make it impossible for any imperialism to succeed in taking over the world."

The reference was to the more youthful Democratic candidate John Kennedy, an old important diplomatic fact in Massachusetts foe of Lodge who international affairs today. He said defeated him for the senate in 1952.

Lodge, his wife and party led an auto caravan on a route of eyes of the world by the United States Nations action halting their pen to the capitol square. He was accompanied by Philip Kuehn, Republican gubernatorial candidate and other Wisconsin party nominees.

Many Democrats
Much of Lodge's capitol steps audience was composed of Democrats, including prominent statehouse figures and hundreds of state employees who listened from opened windows.

Some Democrats admitted they were impressed by the appearance of the Republican candidate and the tone of his speech.

"If the Republicans had turned their ticket around..." mused one prominent capitol Democratic office-holder.

His principal message was on the subject of Soviet Russia and his acquaintance with Soviet methods as UN ambassador—the experience which persuaded Nixon to choose the handsome tall 58-year old Bostonian for the second place on his ticket.

Soviet Danger

The United States, working through the United Nations, will make it impossible for any imperialism to succeed in taking over the world."

Scientists Explore Invisible World of the Tiny Atom

Main Goal Is To Understand The Nucleus

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

Scientists in brilliant explorations are coaxing out secrets of the inner universe. This is the universe of the atom — invisible, so tiny, so empty it is almost nothing. Yet it is everything. The quest to understand it engages many of the world's keenest brains, ingenious instruments and some of the largest machines on earth. And scores of millions of tax dollars each year.

Due to all this effort, scientists in effect are peeling the atom as you might peel an onion. They find timer wheels whirling within tiny wheels.

Smashing atoms into smithereens, they discover 30 bits and pieces can come flying out. Many disappear within millionths of a second. Perhaps hundreds of millionths of a second.

The great goal is to understand the true nature of the puzzling heart of atoms and where this fits into the great scheme of nature. That can mean understanding the entire universe. It can tell us what we are.

For atoms make up everything in the universe — the stars, the flesh and brain cells of humans, advances, including atomic energy, clothes, the air we breathe, the ink with which this comes.

The world's most powerful machine — half-a-mile around and costing 31 million dollars — just started operating at Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, N.Y. Physicists plan more, and sometimes costlier, machines.

They gleefully announce discovery of the anti-proton or a particle called sigma zero. They talk of a curious "zoo" of nuclear particles detected within or coming from the cores of atoms. They ponder the meaning.

Is this all beyond the understanding of the average citizen? By no means, at least in broad outline of this fascinating inner universe. As a caution, though, some of it may seem preposterous, but simply because it doesn't fit our usual concepts of common sense.

Perhaps unexpected new sources of power. Perhaps the means to create new kinds of matter. Perhaps astonishing controls over diseases.

Fundamentals

But physicists promise nothing. Their thirst is purely to understand this immense, fundamental secret of nature.

It is pure, basic research. But basic research has led to some

Solar System

To begin, an atom is similar to a miniature solar system.

It has a nucleus 'like a sun' with electrons 'like planets' whirling about it. Electrons form the outer shell, giving the atom shape and form.

But there is only empty space between the electrons and nucleus, like the space between the earth and sun.

If the nucleus were the size of a baseball, the nearest electrons in various atoms might be half-a-mile to 20 miles away.

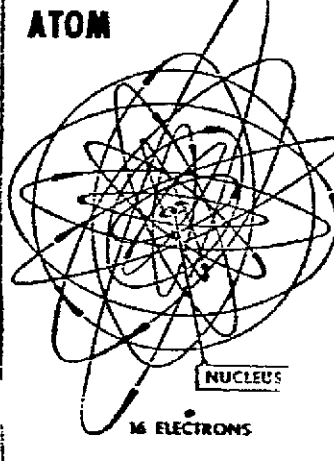

The nucleus represents virtually all the mass or weight of the atom. Electrons are so light-weight they scarcely count.

Heavy Little Ball

The nucleus is so tightly packed that — if all the electrons were stripped away — all the heart of the atom was far more nuclei of all the atoms on earth wondrously organized than first could form a ball only 400 feet across. Dr. Robert Hofstadter of Stanford university estimates. Yet this ball would weigh nearly as much as the earth.

The hearts of all the atoms in your body would amount to an infinitesimal speck. We and everything else are mostly empty space.

Oxygen Has 16 electrons, one for each proton in its nucleus, the only difference between it and hydrogen. When two atoms of hydrogen and one of oxygen share electrons, one molecule of water is formed.

electron, with a negative charge, for every proton in the core.

Atoms make up all the known 102 chemical elements. Wondrously, the only difference between an atom of gold and an atom of silver — or any other atom — is the total number of protons and neutrons in the core (with a circling electron for each proton).

Hydrogen Simplest

The simplest atom, hydrogen, has just one proton and one electron. Oxygen has 16 protons and neutrons. Gold has 197, silver 107, explosive uranium has 235.

The nucleus is not altered when one atom joins another atom to form a molecule. Two atoms of hydrogen and one of oxygen form a molecule of water. But all they do is share electrons.

The stupendous energy of every atom is locked up in its nucleus.

It was this which was set free when scientists learned how to split atoms for bombs and for peacetime atomic power plants.

What happens is that part of the material in the nucleus is suddenly transformed into energy.

Proxmire In Waupaca For Speech

Waupaca — Sen. William Proxmire spoke at Waupaca and Shawano County schools today. County Democratic Chairman George Borchardt has announced.

Proxmire was in New London at 8 a.m., appeared in Waupaca at 9 a.m., and later at Marion Manawa and Tigerton.

The senator will dine with the Wolf River group at 5 p. m. in New London and will speak at 8 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of Waupaca's Elementary School.

Spotlight in Eye of Patrolman Costs $5

Cortez, Colo. —P— Eugene Elmer Cooper thought the lights of an approaching vehicle were too bright. So he flashed his spotlight in the eyes of the driver of the other car.

The other driver was Virgil Puls, a state patrolman. Cooper's fine was $5.

Policemen Ordered Away by a Stinker

Milwaukee —P— Two officers sent to dislodge a defiant occupant from a suburban Wauwatosa building were ordered not to return to police headquarters.

Patrolmen Dale Habeman and Clayton Conley were thoroughly drenched by the skunk they were sent to remove.

Haste Makes Waste

Columbus, Ohio —P— In 1932, Charles Jones carved his name and the date in the shell of a turtle he found on his father-in-law's farm near here. Recently Richard Yank who now owns the property, found the turtle while plowing. It was about 100 yards from here Jones said he released it 28 years ago.

School Board Halts Athletic Insurance After Showdown

Woodrow Explains Objections; Policy Now Purely Voluntary

Menasha — Called to a showdown, the board of education Wednesday backed down from requiring athletes to carry accident insurance.

After an hour's discussion with its challenger — Thomas A. Woodrow, Town of Menasha — the board rescinded its Aug. 24 action requiring students in all interscholastic athletics (except varsity football, covered under a separate policy) to carry insurance to pay for medical and dental bills incurred while in school sports.

Woodrow last April successfully won a decision in circuit court against the board on its August, 1959, action, which not only required the insurance but also specified Old Line Life Insurance Co. as insurer. When the board last May rescinded that action, Woodrow agreed not to enter judgment in the court record.

Last month's insurance action specified minimum coverages, but did not require any company's plan. Woodrow, then served notice he would sue again.

Questions Motion
William Snyder asked Woodrow why he was prompted to bring the action against the board, which "acted in good faith to set up a policy for the children. You've had your fun out of this thing," Snyder also asked why Woodrow didn't protest the older work and double time for work on Sunday. Employees asked for three weeks of vacation after 12 years of employment and a 4 percent general wage increase. The list of requests was referred to the finance committee.

In other action Mayor Chester Bell appointed William Dutton as a member of the election board in the Seventh ward.

Following a public hearing on a request for rezoning of the property at 108 and 112 Wright Ave., the council voted unanimously to reject the request. The request was for changing the property from a 2-family residential zone to a commercial district.

After the request was denied, the council approved a motion to have zoning in the entire area reviewed. The section includes property bounded by Byrd, Cecil, Commercial and Peckham streets.

Work in Winter
Bryan pointed out that some of the work suggested by the engineering firm could be started in the near future. Work on the interceptors could be done during the winter months and the entire plan could be completed by the late summer of 1961, Bryan explained.

Councilmen approved setting a committee of the whole meeting for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Main purpose of the session will be to map out a method of procedure which the city will follow.

The council received a letter from the city employees local union listing requests for benefits. The requests included a wage progression plan, provisions for leave of absence, 40-hour work week schedule, time and one-half pay for work over 8 hours in one day or over 40 hours in a 5-day week.

Other requests included time and one-half pay for Saturday

The Twin City Industrial Safety Council started its 33rd season with a dinner Wednesday night at Germania hall, Menasha, at which Irving M. Footlik, Skokie, Ill., spoke on materials handling. Left to right above are H. L. Sherman, Menasha Vocational school director and safety council secretary-treasurer; Walter Stommel, program chairman; Footlik, the speaker, and James Powers, president.

Safety Council Told Materials Handling Objectives: Save Time, Muscle Power, Money

Menasha — "Materials handling is a broad subject, but our real objective is 3-fold; to save muscle power, to save money and to save time," Irving M. Footlik said at the opening meeting of the Twin City Industrial Safety Council Wednesday evening at Germania Hall. This will be the council's 33rd year.

Footlik, president of Irving M. Footlik and Associates, Skokie, Ill., is a graduate of Illinois Institute of Technology and Northwestern University. He has been an instructor in both colleges and has a 19-year background of practical experience.

"We are trying to eliminate manual lifting entirely. It wastes time and is costly and dangerous. With new machines of all types, management, if it is far-sighted and has imagination, can save the yearly wages of many men by investing in the proper kind of loading and unloading equipment. Some of these machines are run electronically, without any man at all. Some of them can be manned by one worker, who can load a truck or a box car single handed, in a matter of minutes."

Hazards Eliminated
Footlik remarked that industrial design today eliminates a great many hazards, such as sloping ramps at loading docks, overhead storage in the plant and poor arrangement of aisles inside the plant.

Industrial plants have been fighting a battle with architects on what constitutes a good layout. The new buildings allow ample room between trucks. Also, dock boards are now operated by overhead garage door springs. Packing on conveyors eliminates lifting save time," Irving M. Footlik said entirely.

He cited instances where the unions have created tremendously expensive bottlenecks, and used the New York Times circulation department problems, which he had been called in on for consultation, as an example.

When shown how featherbedding is a broad subject, but our real objective is 3-fold; to save muscle power, to save money and to save time," Irving M. Footlik said at the opening meeting of the Twin City Industrial Safety Council Wednesday evening at Germania Hall. This will be the council's 33rd year.

Footlik, president of Irving M. Footlik and Associates, Skokie, Ill., is a graduate of Illinois Institute of Technology and Northwestern University. He has been an instructor in both colleges and has a 19-year background of practical experience.

"We are trying to eliminate manual lifting entirely. It wastes time and is costly and dangerous. With new machines of all types, management, if it is far-sighted and has imagination, can save the yearly wages of many men by investing in the proper kind of loading and unloading equipment. Some of these machines are run electronically, without any man at all. Some of them can be manned by one worker, who can load a truck or a box car single handed, in a matter of minutes."

Hazards Eliminated
Footlik remarked that industrial design today eliminates a great many hazards, such as sloping ramps at loading docks, overhead storage in the plant and poor arrangement of aisles inside the plant.

Industrial plants have been fighting a battle with architects on what constitutes a good layout. The new buildings allow ample room between trucks. Also, dock boards are now operated by overhead garage door springs. Packing on conveyors eliminates lifting save time," Irving M. Footlik said entirely.

Salary Ordinance OK'd by 8-2 Vote

Mayor Says Aldermen Opposing Neenah Plan Misunderstand It

Neenah — Despite objections of 2-2 with Ald. Edward Miller of the Second Ward and Ald. Kenneth Parman of the Seventh Ward opposing it.

The vote on the ordinance was 8-2. Both aldermen said the pay schedules set up were not consistent because some positions paid a lower minimum rate for the job than the maximum rate paid for the position lower.

Some Overlapping
Finance committee members explained that there was some overlapping in the various pay categories but it did not mean that when an employee would be promoted to a higher position he would be in a lower pay bracket.

Mayor Chester Bell said he thought the aldermen objecting merely did not have a complete understanding of the ordinance.

"Better than eight months of work have gone into the pay schedule," Bell said, "and there should be an end to the everlasting scrutiny of such an effort."

Rules governing merit increases in the salary ordinance include that employees and officers not receiving the maximum pay for their job or office shall become eligible for merit increases on their anniversary date.

Maximum Increase
Maximum monthly increase will be one-fifth of the difference between the minimum and maximum salary of a job or office or 3 percent of the maximum salary, whichever is lesser.

Each department will review the salary of each employee yearly and make recommendations to the mayor. No merit increase can become effective without the approval of the mayor.

If an employee eligible for a

Plan Proposed To Carry Out Sewer Project

Works Director Outlines 3-Fold Steps at Neenah

Neenah — A 3-fold preliminary plan toward adoption of steps to carry out the sewer system improvements suggested by a Sheboygan engineering firm was proposed to the City Council Wednesday night.

Wayne Bryan, director of public works, proposed the plan in a letter to the council. The sewer survey was conducted by Jerry Donahue Engineering Company, Sheboygan.

Bryan suggested that the first step be an informal meeting of city officials to study the report. The second step suggested was a meeting with the sewerage commission for consultation about the work to be done and, the third would be approval of plans by the state board of health.

Work in Winter
Bryan pointed out that some of the work suggested by the engineering firm could be started in the near future. Work on the interceptors could be done during the winter months and the entire plan could be completed by the late summer of 1961, Bryan explained.

Councilmen approved setting a committee of the whole meeting for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Main purpose of the session will be to map out a method of procedure which the city will follow.

The council received a letter from the city employees local union listing requests for benefits. The requests included a wage progression plan, provisions for leave of absence, 40-hour work week schedule, time and one-half pay for work over 8 hours in one day or over 40 hours in a 5-day week.

Other requests included time and one-half pay for Saturday including merit increase, can become effective unless recommended by the mayor and authorized by the finance committee. The ordinance also provides that no merit increases shall be granted unless sufficient funds are provided in the budget.

Hired on Trial
The ordinance also includes that the normal policy of the city will be to hire permanent employees and officers at the minimum salary for the position. A candidate for a permanent post may be hired on a trial basis at 10 per cent below the minimum for the job but after six months he shall be raised to the job minimum or released.

Employees may be hired for vacation relief, summer or temporary jobs at 10 per cent below the minimum for the job.

In other action the council approved the purchase of a vision testing machine and audiometer for the city nurse. The equipment will cost about $475 and will be used for testing school children.

Pay Tax Claim
A claim of the town of Neenah for $1721.32 in taxes paid to the city in error was allowed. The finance committee reported that the claim had been certified by the State Department of Taxation. Approval was given for the installation of walkways between Crescent Street and Alcott Drive and between Hawthorn Street and Edgewood Drive for school pupils. The walkways will be installed at city expense.

Among the Exhibitors at the Creative Fair, to be sponsored by the YWCA arts committee from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the YWCA, will be Mrs. A. P. Engbreton. Highway 41, who will show decorative candles. Paintings, sculpture, leathercraft, basketry, floral arrangements, knitting and many other arts and crafts will be on display.

Ordinance Prohibits Draining Into Sewers

New Law Applies to Units Connected With Sanitary Line in City of Neenah

Neenah — An ordinance prohibiting the discharge of certain floor drain connected to the sanitary sewer system must have a sanitary line in City of Neenah. The ordinance was adopted by the Neenah Council Wednesday night.

The new law prohibits any person, firm or corporation from draining down walls, connecting any eave troughs, rain water leaders, down spouts, cistern overflows, surface drains, foundation drains, drain tiles, air conditioning systems, industrial cooling operations or the like to discharge water into the sanitary sewers.

No owner or occupant of property in the city may discharge any storm or surface water from his property into the sanitary sewers.

Sewer Backup
Neenah has been plagued by sewer backup and flooding in rainy seasons. The ordinance is a problem.

The ordinance also requires

Inspect Property
The building inspector or any person designated by the council shall have the authority to inspect property to see that it conforms to the rules.

Penalties for violation include a fine of not less than $5 or more than $25. Each day the violation continues will constitute a separate offense.

Resolutions approved by the council included the installation of sidewalk on the south side of Curtis Avenue, the southwest corner of Madison Street, and Hunt Avenue and on Higgins Avenue, Peckham and Campbell Streets.

Metz Elected Quarterback Club President
Neenah — Don Metz was elected president of the Neenah Quarterback Club by its board of directors Wednesday night at the Whiting Boathouse. He succeeds Dwight Plucker.

Harry Miller was chosen vice president and Herb Kruse named Pauline St. Appleton, each was to the combined post of secretary-treasurer.

The club voted to print the programs for the four Neenah home games and has tentatively set parades for Oct. 29, the New London game.

Preliminary plans are under way for the annual dinner scheduled for Nov. 14 Club officers afternoon was sentenced to 60 days in jail by Judge Cane on charges of contributing to the delinquency of two girls, ages 14 and 15 on Sept. 1 He pleaded guilty goes across the street for coffee while the material is unloaded by mechanical equipment within the truck, and at the plant or retail grocery. If management will not provide this equipment, it will not get delivery."

European Shippers Ahead
He said shippers must, for their own sakes, develop a standard pallet system — with either 32 inch by 40 with pallets or 48 inch by 40 inch pallets, so mechanical equipment can handle any type of material. "In Europe shippers are ahead of us, and if we want to compete with the European market we have to do this. Their shipments come in these standard pallets."

These pallets will be packed at the plants with, for instance, assorted cake mixes, assorted toilet tissues or napkins because that is what the retailer wants. "They will be packed and unloaded by machine and will not be touched by hand until the customer takes it off the shelf."

establishment of free public schools, did not provide for any fees.

"In his consideration, Judge (Helmuth) Arps said the section could not be restricted by construction. If a thing is taught, it is part of the curriculum. No tuition or fee can be charged. Your rule was discriminatory; you said 'If you are a policyholder, we'll educate you,'" said Woodrow Arps' decision in the case held that sports, since provided under sanction of the school board, actually are part of the school program, although non-compulsory.

John Fitzpatrick, board president, explained to Woodrow that the board did not take the action with intention to display its power or to usurp citizens' freedom or to violate the constitutional rights of students or their parents. We were trying to protect those who might be injured and whose parents are not believers in insurance, yet are unable to pay doctor and hospital bills."

Woodrow told the board he was not criticizing without having a program or suggestion. He said he had no objection to a purely voluntary program of insurance. After rescinding its insurance requirement, the board passed a motion urging parents to see that insurance.

Supt. of Schools M. J. Gegan was instructed to notify all parents in an information bulletin that the board no longer requires any coverage.

Fitzpatrick's appointments of three special committees were approved. They are:

Salary schedules, to develop professional growth steps by next school year and to set up a salary schedule for administrators; William Snyder and Elmer Quayle.

Curriculum improvement, — George Banta III and Ted Neely.

School building needs — John Pawlowski and Fern Gaertner.

Fitzpatrick suggested the board as a unit become a special committee for budget preparation. It will meet to work out the 1961 budget from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday, then at 7 p.m. Sept. 29.

Organ Dedication Set at MHS
Menasha — The electronic organ installed in Menasha High School auditorium last spring will be dedicated at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Presentation will be by George Banta, Jr., president of George Banta Co. and its foundation. Principal L. A. Wienberger will accept the organ on behalf of the school.

After the colors are advanced at the program's start, Mrs. Alberta Doverspike will play the Menasha High School song. Gerald Mattern will direct singing.

Fred Kemmerer of Heid Music Co. will play a show tune medley, last event before retiring the colors.

Platform guests will be John Witterling, vice president of the Banta firm; John Fitzpatrick, board of education president, and M. J. Gegan, superintendent of schools.

Titans Vie With Stevens Point For 59th Time

Oshkosh — One of the oldest college football rivalries in the state will be renewed tonight when Oshkosh State College opens its season in a 7:30 p.m. game at Stevens Point.

Tonight's meeting will be the sixth between the two state college conference opponents. They first met in 1886. Stevens Point has won 28 times, Oshkosh 22 and there have been eight ties. Stevens Point's wins have come since 1935. The teams played a 7-7 tie last year.

Stevens Point has a veteran squad which includes a dozen lettermen. The veterans include Mike Liebenstein, the conference's second best ground gainer last year, and "Chuck" Weber sophomore tackle from Menasha. For the first time in recent seasons, the Twin Cities don't have a starter on the Oshkosh squad.

Hopeful Future Club Plans Meeting
Neenah — Mrs. Ruby Heinz and Miss Dora Jensen are co-chairmen of the entertainment committee for the Hopeful Future club meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Recreation Building.

Members of the refreshment committee are Mrs. Mina Hjertberg and Miss Marion Killoren.

Branches Fall, Cut Off Power

Menasha — Water and light utility crews early today repaired two outages on the same power line, which caused trouble in the downtown area.

At 4:15 a.m. a main feeder line was knocked out by branches falling over on Broad Street. While the crews were working on the problem, they made a repair to allow power to feed into downtown.

About 5:30 a.m. a branch on Water Street fell on the same line and produced another downtown outage. By 7 a.m., both had been repaired.

Neenah School Officials Discuss Building Needs, Language Program

Neenah — A possible west side research in this field has not been too impressive. Answering a question on 12-month school years, Dr. Scott said the time is coming when we will have it. "Even now we can't schedule all the classes students want to take at the high school."

Both speakers cited evaluation as being the prime factor for merit pay for teachers and urged caution in consideration of such an approach. One system in Missouri has a full-time administrator to handle the merit pay program, Groth pointed out.

Building Decisions

Groth listed three factors which will influence coming decisions on future building needs. They are the outcome of the bill regarding all rural school areas to become a part of a high school district by 1962, the opening of St. Gabriel school scheduled for 1961 and the rapid expansion in Neenah to the south and west.

Additional factors which determine board decisions are financial support, the need to keep abreast in a fast-changing world and the area of maintaining desirable salary schedules, he said.

Questioned on the hiring of married women teachers, Groth said, "The police is not to not hire married women teachers, but the policy is to hire single women as teachers as long as they are available." He said the board has reviewed its position on the question each year he has been on the board and it believes the policy is not a serious deterrent to keeping good teachers.

Thomas Christoph, program chairman and PTA vice president, served as moderator for the discussion.

Present needs are the third phase at the high school and the elementary school in the Edgewood area, Groth said. He pointed out some relief will come next year with the opening of the new junior high school building. Some elementary grades will use the new building for a short time classroom space in the high school and other grades will be available as the vocational school and administrative offices move to the Kimberly Junior High School building.

Questioned on a future second high school or west side junior high school, Groth stated the board believes the high school should grow and there be only one and that enrollment at the junior high school should be limited to about 800. Thus, a second junior high school, tentatively planned for the southwest side of the city, will be needed probably within 10 years. He said a site for such a school has been considered by the board.

Foreign Language

Dr. Scott, acting superintendent of schools, said next year foreign language will be offered at the new junior high school, thus starting study at seventh grade. He said there is no decision now for offering foreign language in the elementary grades and reported

Greenville Church Started by Mission to Neenah and Menasha

Greenville — In 1869, the Lutheran church celebrated its centennial for the and Pastor V. W. Rehkopf took over the circuit.

Pastor Fachmann, told a young Pastor Waldt established minister and his family, Pastor preaching stations around Menasha. "At the upper end of Lake Michigan at Woodville, Appleton, Clay, Winnebago there are two small towns, Greenville and Winnebago towns, Neenah and Menasha. Go the first service in the town of there, preach the Gospel, and Greenville was in the autumn of 1869 and Pastor Waldt continued."

This admission marked the beginning of his rounds holding services of Immanuel Evangelical in homes until 1863 when he Lutheran Church here that will become established in Oshkosh.

Jantzen says "vive le pull"

Exciting fashion inspiration from Paris where "The Pull" means a sweater that does just that . . . it pulls. Wear it pulled up waist high or pulled down to hug the hip . . . pull the collar high or low. There's new excitement in the fabric, too. Mohair blended knit lets its ribs show through a meltingly soft haze or fluff. In Jantzen's romantic new Colors That Kiss. 34-40 sizes, 14.98.

Just wear a smile and a JANTZEN

Called Pastor In 1867, the congregation at Neenah called Pastor Waldt and Greenville and the town of Clayton asked to be included in the call. The Clayton-Greenville congregation combined and in 1868 the first church "with a large tower" was built and Pastor Waldt dedicated it in the summer of 1867.

The next year, Pastor Jaekel, a circuit-rider, took charge of the congregations at Greenville, Dale and Hortonville until 1870.

Since '70 the congregation was served by Pastors Spehr, Haack, Kleinhans, Bass, Koch, Uppelger, Kasper, Gieschen and Orvin Sommer. The Rev. Mr. Kasper was pastor from 1913 to 1945. He died in 1955 and is buried in the church cemetery.

On the third Sunday in Advent, 1910, the current church was dedicated. It had been constructed for $13,000. During the pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Gieschen, an organ was installed.

Improvements Extensive improvements, interior and exterior, have been made in the last eight years. The renovation services coincided with the 50th anniversary of the building itself on Aug. 14 of this year.

The history of the congregation was developed by Pastor Leonard Kasper for the 50th anniversary of the congregation's founding celebrated in 1917.

Pastor Sommer, in the centennial booklet, reports there is no documentary proof for an 1860 starting point. This year was chosen as the 100th anniversary because 1860 is mentioned in the county centennial literature in connection with the church.

Filed in 1866 The recording of the church's organization was filed with the register of deeds in 1866 and the parish's minutes go no farther back than 1870.

However, the Church Book lists the first baptism on July 22, 1860, involving Johann, Friedrich and Theodore Schoettler born June 10, 1860, to Christoph and Caroline Schoettler.

The first marriage united Christian Kaphingst and Louise Tilt on Sept. 16, 1860, and the first burial was Nov. 1, 1859, of Friedrich Joachim Bleich, who died Oct. 31, 1859.

The centennial booklet decries the parish's failure to establish a parochial school, but points out Immanuel Church was active in the establishment of Fox Valley

Edgewood Plat Residents Ask For Walkway

38 Sign Petition, Also Request Crossing Guard

Neenah — A petition with 38 signatures requesting a special walkway and school crossing guard in the Edgewood plat area was presented to the Neenah Council Wednesday night.

The walkway was requested on the east side of Oak Street from the end of the present sidewalk north to Cecil Street.

Petitioners want a school crossing guard to be stationed at the corner of Oak and Cecil Streets to help school children.

A third request was for a safe access for those people living south of Cecil Street and west of Commercial Street.

Mayor Chester Bell pointed out the walkway approved earlier in the evening by the council will run along Higgins Avenue and the one requested in the petition would run parallel to it.

The petition was referred to the public protection and street committees for study and recommendation.

Packers Game Forces Change of Dedication

Menasha — Because the original date conflicted with a Green Bay Packers football game, the board of education Wednesday decided dedication of the new Banta School will be Sunday afternoon, Oct. 30.

The board earlier this month decided on Nov. 13 as a logical date, since American Education Week will be Nov. 7 to 13.

Polar Bears Face Denmark In Little Nine

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE

Denmark vs. Omro
Freedom vs. Reedsville
Wrightstown vs. Shiocton

Game Tonight: Wrightstown at Shiocton.

Games Friday: Winneconne at Omro.

Denmark at Hortonville.

Reedsville at Freedom.

Hortonville and Denmark will clash Friday with a share of first place in the Little Nine Conference at stake.

Wrightstown and Shiocton get an early start on the other league teams as they will clash tonight at the Shiocton field.

The Danes will visit the Polar Bears for the feature attraction Friday and other games have Reedsville visiting Freedom and Winneconne playing at Omro.

Denmark showed a lot of scoring power by rolling over Omro, 26-6 last week. The Danes have one of the better balanced teams in the league and are expected to be a strong contender for the league title.

Hortonville, after a 32-8 loss to Pacelli of Stevens Point, bounced back to blank Winneconne, 13-0 in its conference opener.

Wrightstown will try to hand the Shiocton its second straight loss Foxes 7-6 last fall. The Wolves tonight. However, the Chiefs are scored in the first period and expected to be on the warpath Omro tallied in the fourth but after being stopped by Freedom missed the extra point.

Omro won the 1948, 1949, 1956 opener to Marion. A pair of rivals, Winneconne and Omro, will both be looking for their initial loop wins. The game will be played at Omro and is rated a tossup.

Reedsville, defending league champion, will be at Freedom where the strong Irish squad will rule the favorite.

Foxes, Wolves in 14th Meeting of Football Series

Winneconne — Winneconne will attempt to keep possession of the "Little Red China Bull," the symbol of football supremacy in its series with Omro, when the two clash Friday night at Omro.

The two Little Nine Conference neighboring rivals have met 13 times since 1948 when Winneconne took up 11-man football. The battle for the bull has been in existence since 1952.

Winneconne returned the prize to its trophy case by edging the Foxes 7-6 last fall. The Wolves tonight. However, the Chiefs are scored in the first period and expected to be on the warpath Omro tallied in the fourth but after being stopped by Freedom missed the extra point.

Omro won the 1948, 1949, 1956 opener to Marion. A pair of rivals, Winneconne and Omro, will both be looking for their initial loop wins. The game will be played at Omro and is rated a tossup.

Bachhuber Lost to MHS For 30 Days

Menasha — Coach Emmett Boyce's Menasha Bluejays will get their first taste of Mid-Eastern Conference football competition Friday night when they encounter New London at Butte des Morts Field. Because it is Parent's Night, the game will get underway at 7:30 p.m., a half hour earlier than usual.

For the Jays, who dropped a 13-0 decision to Appleton in their home debut last week, it will be their last contest before the home fans until Oct. 21. They have out of town tangles the next three Friday nights.

Both teams go into the struggle as more or less unknown quantities. The Jays sputtered in their opener and because of the rain and mud were unable to get their offense moving. New London lost 20-12 to Waupun but the exact strength of its opponent hasn't been ascertained. However, last year's New London Jayvee team jarred the Jays 33-0.

Lineup Changes
The Jays will be without the services of veteran tackle Steve Bachhuber for 30 days because of a head injury he incurred in the second quarter of the opener. Bachhuber will continue to work out with the team but will take part in no contact work. Under WIAA rules, players who receive head injuries have to stay out for 30 days. He should be available for the final three games.

"Fritz" Blohm, a junior non-let-term, will take Bachhuber's spot on offense and he. Bill Stuck or Terry Linden will play the position on defense.

Lang Hammers 599 Series in Business Loop

Chouinard Takes Double Honors in Industrial Wheel

Menasha — Ken Lang belted a 599 series to lead the Business Men's League Wednesday night at Mid-Town. There were no honor games of 225 or better.

Cal McGregor posted a 569 series and Don Merkle rolled 552. Lang's Pharmacy, Cozy Bar and Independent TV all are tied for first place with 7-2 records.

Al Chouinard of the Marathon Washington Street team connected for a 247 game and 583 set to spear honors in the Twin City Men's Industrial circuit Tuesday night at Mid-Town.

Ben Lewandowski cracked a 566 set and Elmer Terwilliger bowled a 235 game. Gilbert Paper leads with 28 Petersen points. River Street Plant, Valley Lumber and Fuel and Wisconsin Tissue Mills all have 27. Washington Street topped the teams with 928-2,570.

Germania Honors
Bill Berndt of the Clothes Shop team rolled 578 in the Germania circuit Tuesday night at the Brin Bowl. Frank Hackstock bowled 56. The Tembellus team is in first place with a 5-1 record.

Jack Habiewitz of Linotype fashioned a 230 game and Stan Penske of Layouts notched a 573 trio. Letterman and Tom Heil will replace quarterback Jeff Block on defense.

Shawano '11' Initial Foo For Neenah

Neenah — Opening its Mid-Eastern Conference season with a blemish on its record for the first time since 1951, Neenah attempts to balance its slate when it takes on Shawano on the latter's field Friday night.

Last Friday, the Rockets had the misfortune of running into Fahrenkrug Coach Joe Capicik's finest Fond du Lac team and came out short 12-0. Since then, Fondy has been picked to win the Fox River Valley Conference crown.

Coach Marlon Batterman told the Neenah Quarterback Club Wednesday night that the Rockets had the ball nine times against Fondy and lost it four times on fumbles. The dropped balls kept Neenah in the hole most of the time and they were unable to open up.

Cites Weaknesses
He said the defense did a good job except in rushing the passer, chugging the ends and poor pass defense in the secondary.

The coach declared that the squad wasn't as well prepared as it might have been, pointing out that the conference rule adopted last spring knocked 14 hours of practice off the preseason work-out schedule. Two drills a day were ruled out and teams weren't allowed to have meetings before the first practice.

Batterman said that veteran fullback Bill Fahrenkrug probably will be kept out of the Shawano game. He has leg bruises which haven't responded to treatment. Another senior, Tom Hensen, will start at Fahrenkrug's spot. Others available are sophomore Joe Began, who is improving rapidly, and Dick Dietrich, a converted end.

At Shawano, the Rockets bump up against a squad which has seven lettermen. The Indians have good size in the line and a fine quarterback in Tim McGuire.

Drop 30-7 Game
The Indians surprised everyone by posting a 4-2 conference mark last year but lost heavily through graduation. They were unimpressive in a 30-7 non-league loss to D. C. Everest two weeks ago but Neenah - Menasha allotment will have had an extra week to correct their weaknesses.

Neenah's likely offensive starters are Larry Tesch and Paul Felton, ends; Tommy Stulp and Dick Koehn, tackles; Steve Lanzner and Jim Hedlund, guards; Jim Sauby, center; Steve Hildebrand, quarterback; George Goetz and Winn Zimmerman, halfbacks; and Dave Hirschy and Alex Millar, end on defense.

At Madison there will be a relegion. Linotype is unbeaten in six games to hold first place.

Don Kruschke rolled a 551 set and Stu McCutcheon hit a 225 single in charge of the Uptown Commercial wheel Wednesday night at Mid-Town. Elmer's and Pattern Makers are deadlocked for first place with 7-2 slates.

The Radiance Team Won the championship in the Gilbert Paper Co., Golf league. Left to right are Chris Grode, Frank Poplinsky and Len Heckner. It marked the first time in the 5-year history of the circuit that a team other than resource took first place.

Wiesner Congratulated in Neenah Council Resolution

Neenah — Tom Wiesner, Neenah groups plan motorcades to the High School graduate and co-captain of the University of Wisconsin football team this season, was congratulated in a special resolution adopted by the council Wednesday night.

The resolution specifically congratulated Wiesner for being selected as the Badger co-captain and expressed the hope for his success and that of the team.

"Original idea for the resolution came from the Twin City Chamber of Commerce which is working jointly with the Beaver Dam Chamber on a special project of Commerce.

Hank Derleth, the other UW co-captain, is from Beaver Dam and served parking area available for the Chamber of Commerce there members of the caravan.

Both players will be honored between halves of the Wisconsin-Madison game at Madison Oct. Irving Stulp, Don Wirth and Al Krause.

NHS Debaters To Appear on UW Institute

Coch Dunwiddie
Issues Call; Open
Competition Nov. 12

Neenah — Neenah High School debaters, coached by William Dunwiddie, have been selected to appear on a speech institute sponsored by the University of Wisconsin at Madison on Oct. 15.

They will appear at a 1 p.m. demonstration, discussion and evaluation, part of an all-day program. The topic for their session will be "How Can the Security of the Free World Be Best Maintained?"

Debate candidates had their first meeting with Dunwiddie Wednesday. The coach has set up a schedule of meetings through this month and October with actual debate competition starting in November.

The first debate will be an invitational at West Bend Nov. 12 while Dec. 10 the teams will compete in a tournament at Green Bay West High School. Neenah will be host to an invitational debate tournament again on Jan. 14.

Topic for the debaters this year is "Resolved: The United Nations Should be Significantly Strengthened."

The preparation scheduled for Neenah debaters includes a session for beginners on how to get started next Monday and a general discussion of the major issues of the debate proposition next Wednesday.

Eight sessions are scheduled for October. They include planning the case for beginning debaters Oct. 3, affirmative case planning Oct. 6, negative case planning Oct. 10, planning session for the panel day evening by Sen. William Proxmire. The senator was the in the UW speech institute Oct. 15, presentation and delivery for dinner meeting of the YWCA gram, which he called "fantastically expensive," Sen. Proxmire tacking the affirmative case Oct. 19, demonstration and practice debate Oct. 24 and attacking the negative case Oct. 24.

The NHS debate squad will attend a demonstration debate at Marquette University's Brooks Memorial Union Nov. 4. Marquette and University of Wisconsin debaters will present the demonstration debate.

Senator Answers Questions From Medical Care to Cuba

Neenah — Questions on medical care for the aged, farm surplus, minimum wages more proper, dignified position, require additional money to take the produce off the market.

In response to a question on minimum wages pricing this country out of the world market, he replied the minimum wage bill does not contribute so much as union negotiated wages may.

"There is a real human need," he said referring to the necessity of a health plan for older citizens, to bargain for a fair price. He in the past 10 years one of the aspects of the cost of living rising most rapidly was the cost of medical care, he said. Some 60 percent of the people over 65 years are living on $1,000 a year, he explained.

Council Votes Land Purchase At Oshkosh

Oshkosh — The Oshkosh Common Council Wednesday night voted purchase of land south of the city limits to form a new industrial park.

City officials were authorized to purchase the 125-acre tract for $110,000 from Flora Baranowski and Helen Stephan. The area involved, known as the Widmer Farm, is in the town of Algoma and lies between Highway 26 and the Wisconsin Central tracks along County Trunk 1.

The area is south of an industrial site purchased by the city and taken over by the Standard Kollsman Co., which has erected a plant which is in operation.

said. He pointed out, "time is running out," in achieving a disarmament program as four countries now have nuclear weapons and it is only a matter of time before more will have them. "Can you imagine the situation when such countries as Red China and Cuba have nuclear power?" he asked.

He advised patience in dealing with Cuba as long as Castro doesn't encourage Russian missile bases "or something of that sort."

Coming Test

In remarks preceding the question - answer period, Sen. Proxmire called the coming election in Wisconsin as exciting and dramatic an election as we have seen. It is hard to remember a time when it has been as difficult to say who is going to win, he said.

Adding to the drama in Wisconsin is "the irresistible momentum of a new Democratic party coming along." Independent voters can really throw the election either way this year, he said.

He listed two advantages for his party as "Kennedy being the strongest Democratic candidate in the state since Roosevelt ran for reelection in 1936" and the advantage of having an incumbent governor who is better known than the Republican candidate. "I think it," he emphasized. We have to the Democrats are going to need every advantage Kennedy and Nelson can give." He stressed the importance of voting, pointing to the many elections determined by a single vote.

Social Security

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Why is it necessary to check my record?

A. For the reason that your future benefits will be based on the earnings credited to your social security account.

Q. What constitutes retirement for social security purposes so that I can be eligible for monthly benefits?

A. A wage earner is retired when his earnings during a calendar year are $1,200 or less. A person age 72 or older can draw benefits regardless of his earnings. A wage earner is considered partially retired and will receive benefits for some months in the year if his earnings for the year are between $1,200 and $2,000 or for any month in which he earns not more than $100.

The social security administration office is in the courthouse annex, 401 S. Elm street, Appleton.

Thieves Take Lights, Also Scratch Autos

Nogales, Ariz. —(AP)—Auto dealer Herman Fiori, figures light bulb thieves added insult to injury while raiding his sales lot.

He told police thieves crawled up on the cars to steal the bulbs, scratching several cars in the process.
